

Committee to study 'ethics' of GC employees

By GARY SCHNEIDER
of the Press-Record

Granite City Mayor Paul Schuler formed an ad-hoc city council "ethics committee" during Tuesday night's meeting, but not until after a disagreement with Alderman Charles Douglas of the First Ward on the rules of order of the council.

Douglas balked at Schuler's appointments, contending that committees should be formed by the city council, not the mayor.

Schuler proposed forming a committee to "investigate certain things that come up from time to time regarding employees and that sort of thing," he explained after Douglas asked why the city needs an ethics committee.

Schuler said the committee would be charged with investigating incidents such as those described to the council in a closed caucus several weeks ago. The topic of that caucus was not disclosed.

"We had a caucus three weeks ago on employees. That should be checked out with a police representative and the city attorney. We also had problems at the treatment plant. Problems come up day to day," the mayor added.

Alderman Lloyd Bailey said it was his understanding that the "problems" discussed in the executive session were to be investigated by the sanitation and street committees, and Alderman Roy Poulos agreed, but the other aldermen said they understood the mayor agreed to appoint an ad-hoc committee to investigate the allegations.

Tuesday night, Schuler asked the council to concur in his appointments of Alderman Mac Warfield to chair the ad-hoc ethics committee and Aldermen Paul Fisk and Everett Morien serve with Warfield.

He also appointed an ad-hoc committee on acquiring property at the Granite City Army Installation, chaired by Alderman Sam Whitmer, with Aldermen Fred "Pat" Schuman and Mike Modrusis serving.

Douglas said he had no objection to the members selected, but alleged Schuler was violating the council's charter, which calls for the council to appoint standing and special committees and for the mayor to select a chairman from among those appointed.

Morien said the method used by the mayor in appointing committees and asking the council to concur "has been passed on for years from one mayor to the next."

Schuler responded, "I have waited four months. If the aldermen are supposed to appoint committees, I haven't seen a committee appointed yet."

Douglas added, "I am concerned about the status if the city council allows these appointments to stand. I believe they should be made by the council, if they want to meet and appoint their recommendations."

Schuler then withdrew his appointments and told the aldermen they could appoint the two committees at the next meeting Sept. 2.

A concerned Poulos then asked, "Mayor, will this situation be dropped?" and Schuler assured him, "We need a committee on the depot (Army Installation). I met with the people at the depot today (Tuesday). We need a committee, but about the same time. Schuler's suggested committees."

Warfield then moved for a closed-door caucus, but about the same time. Schuler's suggested committees."

A voice vote on Schuman's motion then was taken and most aldermen seemed to vote in favor. City Clerk Robert W. Stevens declared that the motion had passed and the committees were appointed, as proposed by the mayor.

Closing second entrance into West Granite

It may be "a long way around" for some drivers between portions of West Granite City and the downtown area, as a second railroad crossing will be closed next month for nearly a month.

A lengthy battle to have the rough crossing on 20th Street repaired is over and the crossing will close for more than a month, beginning Monday, Sept. 8, Granite City Mayor Paul Schuler told the city council Tuesday night. Work should be completed by Oct. 10, he said.

With 19th Street already closed for construction of the overpass, traffic will have to use Niedringhaus Avenue, which could cause some congestion and lengthy backups when trains are using the crossing.

"The city apologizes for the inconvenience, but we feel the final outcome will be appreciated by all. This crossing repair will be the sixth to occur in the past four years, not counting the overpass," Schuler commented.

The five railroads having tracks across 20th Street will repair their respective sections of the crossing during the Sept. 8 to Oct. 10 period. After the repairs, Macclair Asphalt will put down an asphalt overlay to meet the new crossing grade, the aldermen were told.

The work will be similar to the repairs done one and one-half years ago to the Niedringhaus Avenue crossing, Schuler told the council.

NEW, LARGER PARK SHELTER under construction at the end of 29th Street near Niedringhaus School in Wilson Park. The new shelter measures 20 by 48 feet and is 50 percent larger than the old Shelter Five it replaced. The facility will be equipped with 110 and 220-volt outlets in addition to being lighted for park patrons' use. The shelter is being built with a Land and Water Conservation (LAWCON) grant for $15,000 from the federal Department of Interior. A $52,000 resurfacing project is also underway at four of the Wilson Park tennis courts on Benton Street. Other improvements of the courts are included in the project. (Press-Record Photo)

Taxes are arriving

Granite City Tax Collector Nick Petrillo has distributed $315,000 in taxes he has collected to area taxing bodies to help alleviate the financial bind most are experiencing as the result of tax bills being mailed out late this year.

The treasurer noted that the early distribution was made possible by taxpayers who paid their taxes directly to his office, rather than sending the taxes to the county treasurer.

He encouraged all Granite City Township residents to pay their taxes, as soon as possible, at local banks or his office in city hall or to mail them to the tax collector's office in the Granite City Hall. Checks should be made out to the "Granite City Tax Collector," he said.

Petrillo reported that he has distributed $159,014, or 50.48 percent of the money collected, to the Granite City.

GC teachers headed to court

By BILL WINTER
of the Press-Record

In contrast to the strikes affecting some school districts in this region, the Granite City school system's fall term began this week with an aura of labor-management harmony, at least on the surface. But a lawsuit to be heard Sept. 8 will air differences between the district and its faculty bargaining group.

Courtroom contenders in Madison County's Third Judicial Circuit are the Board of Education and Local 743 of the American Federation of Teachers. Extensive pre-trial statements already have been taken from witnesses while they were being questioned by attorneys.

A two-year agreement was reached with the Granite City District Nine teachers a year ago.

School board members and administrators say faculty size estimates were utilized during bargaining talks only as a means of projecting the amount of funds likely to be available for pay increases and other teaching costs.

Local 743 representatives contend that the actual number of teachers has remained less than anticipated, in the

The agreement was ratified by Local 743 but not signed by its officers.

The teachers in effect accept the raises called for at the conclusion of the negotiations, but only if they are successful in their suit. If they are successful, the school district could be forced to provide back pay. Local 743 teachers for last year and added pay for the year that is starting.

No precise figures have been voiced regarding the amount of funds under litigation.

As noted, such differences of opinion remain beneath the surface, and the start of the 1980-81 school year is being viewed as successful.

Decisions on where tentative staff assignments should be altered will be made after the enrollment has stabilized; the usual benchmark is the sixth day of instruction.

On the first day of classes Tuesday, Granite City public schools counted

DRUG PROBLEMS on an international scale are explained to members of Explorer Post 10-4 by Special Agent Curtis Dixon, standing, of the Drug Enforcement Administration (DEA) in Washington, D.C. last week. Explorers pictured clockwise around the table are Tim Vandaveer,

Leo Tormino, Jim Klaus, Morris Ricketts, Mike Smith, Joe Boneau, Lloyd Blumenstock, and Ed Paterson. The explorers were the personal guests of Peter B. Bensinger, administrator of DEA and former head of the Illinois Department of Corrections. (Press-Record Photo by Nick Strang)

Secret doors opened for Explorers in Washington

By MICK STRANGE
of the Press-Record

A rare "behind the scenes" look into the nation's top intelligence and law enforcement agencies was afforded members of Explorer Post 10-4 during a trip to Washington, D.C., ending last week.

Sixteen members of the post, which is sponsored by the Madison Police Benevolent and Protective Association 110, spent a week in Washington D.C.

The first morning in the nation's capital was spent at the executive offices of the U.S. Secret Service, where the explorers, who are from throughout the Quad-City area, were briefed by H. Stuart Knight, director of the Secret Service.

Director Knight, who is an active supporter of Exploring, when asked why he is active in the program said, "That is quite easy to answer. In our line of work we frequently deal with very undesirable people. It does me good to see youth, such as yourselves, interested in making and keeping our country a good place to live."

After meeting with Knight, Special Agent James Boyle took the group to a conference room where two topics—protecting the President of the United States and counterfeiting, were discussed at length. John W. Warner, assistant to the director, stopped to greet the explorers.

Director Knight, Werner and Boyle were key figures in the planning and execution of the first national Law Enforcement Explorer Conference, held in Michigan during July, 1979.

Post 10-4 took 20 members to that conference and became acquainted with Knight, Werner and Boyle.

The explorers presented Director Knight an engraved plaque, bearing the post patch, making him an honorary member of Explorer Post 10-4.

At 2 p.m. the same day, the explorers were signing in and receiving identification tags to wear in the tightly secured Drug Enforcement Administration (DEA).

The local group was led into the private office of Peter B. Bensinger, administrator of DEA. Bensinger is the former director of the Illinois Department of Corrections.

After discussing the role of DEA and also Exploring (Administrator Bensinger is also active in Exploring), the group was taken to a conference room where international drug trafficking and covert actions against drug traffickers here and abroad were explained by DEA Special Agent Curtis Dixon.

DEA was born on July 1, 1973, by the merger of four drug enforcement agencies—the Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs, the Office of National Narcotics Intelligence and those drug investigative intelligence activities previously performed by the Bureau of Customs.

This amalgamation combined all of the federal government's anti-drug enforcement efforts under a unified leadership. Administrator Bensinger reports directly to the attorney general.

The explorers then returned to their motel, the Holiday Inn at Alexandria, Va., which is the same motel in which members of Post 10-4 stayed in 1974, on a similar trip.

Crystal technology — it sparkles with promise

Tiny radio transmitters that are swallowed or surgically implanted to monitor body functions and report vital diagnostic information will soon be possible using single-crystal technology, according to a report at a meeting of the American Chemical Society.

"Crystals help to regulate the power to our cities, manage bank accounts, direct rail and air traffic and reservations, help diagnose diseases, and may ultimately provide the key to production of limitless energy on earth," says Dr. Stanley Mroczkowski of Yale University.

"There is no aspect of day-to-day existence in technologically advanced countries that is not influenced directly or indirectly by crystals."

Single crystals are pure samples of a compound — such as quartz — whose atoms are found together in a definite and highly ordered arrangement.

What makes them so useful in technology is their electrical conductivity, which can be tailored so that the crystal has electrical properties that meet the various needs of industry. They are crucial, for example, in the operation of many solid-state systems such as portable radios, television, hearing aids, auto ignitions and telephones.

Single crystal technology has important and near-future implications for low-pollution and new energy sources, such as fuel cells, advanced batteries, solar energy systems, magneto-hydrodynamics and fusion energy, according to Dr. Mroczkowski.

He also predicts a revolution in power transmission caused by crystal superconductors that conduct electricity with virtually no loss, offering "tremendous energy savings" for long distance transmission.

He foresees new ways to store electricity, new light sources such as light-emitting diodes that could light a whole room, powerful optical communications systems using laser light instead of radio waves to carry information, advanced computers that make artificial intelligence devices and large-scale weather prediction practical, telephone video communication, and inexpensive catalysts for cleaning car engine exhausts using tiny single crystals.

For the more distant future, Dr. Mroczkowski's predictions include optical computer duplication of a single nerve cell, organic semiconductor, and super-thin films suited for a host of electrical applications.

"In fact, a whole new technology of 'integrated optics' seems on the horizon," he says. "Many optical functions at present might be performed on a single crystal chip in a manner analogous to solid-state integrated circuits."

Harrassment to GC man believed linked to name

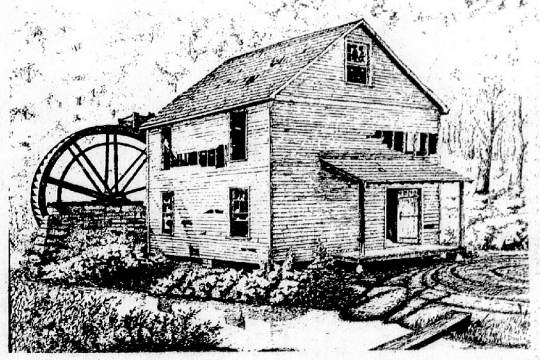

Occasionally, when two unrelated persons who have the same name, the actions by one reflect badly on the other.

That is what happened last week when Robert Dean Mathias, 26, of the 1700 block of Spruce Street was arrested and was charged with rape and two counts of deviate sexual assault in connection with the abduction and rape of two 18-year-old Pennsylvania women Aug. 16.

It turns out there is another Robert Mathias in Granite City. Robert Gene Mathias, 21, of 3156 Rodger Ave., reported Monday that he has been subjected to a beating and other harrassment since the arrest of the man with the same first and last names as his.

"I got beaten because I had the same name and I am sore as heck," Robert Gene Mathias reported.

EXAMPLE OF ARTWORKS by Doyle Vaden of Tennessee. Copies of his drawing of the former Madison County sheriff's home (not pictured) will be sold to raise funds to restore the historic building.

Artwork sale to aid county restoration

The vanishing Second Empire style of architecture represented by the old Madison County sheriff's residence, Edwardsville, has attracted the attention of Doyle Vaden, a graphic historian of this part of America. Vaden feels the residence is an "excellent candidate" for another of his pen and ink sketches of historic structures.

Vaden, who has been in Edwardsville much of August, hopes to assist, through his artistic efforts, in securing funds for restoration of the 109-year-old structure. He has been photographing and studying details of the sheriff's residence in preparation for his drawing.

Vaden will work with the Goshen Preservation Alliance by making available his original drawing and a limited edition of prints depicting the residence.

A native of the mountains of East Tennessee, he lives in Knoxville. He has been referred to at the "mountain artist" and has traveled throughout rural and urban areas of Kentucky, Tennessee and Virginia in his search for historic structures such as old water mills, barns, and other examples of the heritage of the area in which they are found.

Many have now been immortalized through his pen and ink drawings. Some have been exhibited at invitational shows in Edwardsville and Alton.

The prints Vaden will prepare of the sheriff's residence will be 11x17 inches. Only 1,000 prints will be produced.

It is expected that prints will be available on or about Oct. 15 and will be ready for framing. The limited edition prints will be serial numbered and signed and are offered at $10.

Proceeds from the sale will be used in the preservation and restoration of the structure. Illinois residents will add 5 percent sales tax to the $10 charge.

Vaden's prints will be offered on a first-come basis until the limited edition is exhausted.

Orders for prints may now be placed by contacting Earl Picklesimer, chairman, Pen and Ink Project, Post Office Box 116, Edwardsville 62025 (656-1770).

Individual contract offered to faculty

Instructors of Belleville Area College courses, who currently are teaching under a new working agreement, have been asked to individually approve new agreements, rather than to have a contract negotiated by the American Association of University Professors (AAUP).

The BAC board of trustees voted 5-1 Monday evening to offer the instructors a 10 percent salary increase, in addition to yearly increment raises, and to mail individual agreements to the faculty members.

The agreements carry a no-strike provision and new productivity pledges, a spokesman for BAC said. Those who return their signed agreements by Friday are to receive the new wages, retroactive to Aug. 18.

Those who return their agreements after Friday will begin receiving the higher wages immediately, but will not be granted the retroactive wages, according to the spokesman.

Teachers who fail to return their agreements may continue working under their present wage scale, the board decided.

All signing agreements pledge not to participate in a threatened strike against BAC. They also agree to accept increases in work hours for English instructors, those with laboratory assignments, librarians and counselors, the spokesman added.

Bruce Winsore, interim BAC president, commented, "While we continue to recognize the AAUP as bargaining agent, we feel compelled to issue individual contracts, because the unsettled state of affairs is not in the best interest of the college or the faculty members."

"This is the only way we can provide the salary increase to those faculty members who are willing to accept the terms of the contract and pledge that they will not strike during its term."

He added, "In light of last Wednesday's threat of a strike by the faculty, we believe that this effort will give us the most likelihood of providing uninterrupted educational services to our students."

Donovan, Partney to join bank board

Two new board members to serve on the advisory board until the 1981 annual stockholders meeting when they will be elected to the Board of Directors. They are Donald W. Partney Jr. and William P. Donovan, Ernest A. Karandjeff, chairman and president of the bank announced Monday.

Partney graduated from the University of Illinois and was formerly employed as an engineer by Miles Laboratory, Consolidated Aluminum Company, and Kingsford Company of Louisville, Ky.

Currently, he is president-treasurer of Granite Sheet Metal Co., founded by his late father, former Mayor Donald W. Partney Sr. He is on the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors and is a member of the Rotary Club, American Society of Mechanical Engineers, Illinois Society of Professional Engineers and is a former member of the Granite City Library Board and Tri-Cities Regional Port Authority.

Mr. Partney and his wife, Carol, live in Granite City with their three children.

Donovan graduated from Cornell University, received a masters degree in metallurgical engineering from the Rolla Schools of Mines, and a masters degree in business administration from Washington University. He formerly was an engineer for Carrier Corp., Syracuse, N.Y., Hawker Siddley Ltd., Toronto, Canada, and is presently works manager of American Steel Foundries.

At the present time, Donovan is on the Board of Directors of the St. Louis Chapter, American Foundrymen's Society, is president of Southwestern Illinois Industrial Association, vice-president of the Tri-Cities Area United Way, is a member of the Chamber of Commerce, Cahokia Mound Boy Scout Council and the Granite City Rotary Club.

Sewer break delays building

In a special meeting held Monday morning, the Metro-East Sanitary District met with the Hurst-Roscoe Inc. engineering firm of Cahokia to discuss repairs of the Cahokia trunk line.

Forty-four new homes to be built in Alorton cannot be constructed until repairs are made. Repairs are estimated at $529,000 and the sanitary district was given 60 days to respond.

According to a spokesman for the sanitary district's board of directors, the district cannot cover the costs of the repairs at this time.

In a meeting Tuesday of the board, the matter of the lawsuit against the Milam-East Division of SCA Services was closed and the suit dismissed. In the lawsuit, filed by the sanitary district, it was alleged that SCA had removed about 65,000 cubic yards of dirt from the levee near Layton Road, north of the Milam-East Landfill, for use as a landfill cover.

SCA has agreed to restore the levee and to accept full responsibility for any flooding which may occur during the reconstruction of the levee. SCA also will pay about $6,000 in engineering costs and will pay the sanitary district $100,000 for the damages, according to the agreement.

Raises for monitors and teacher assistants

Pay raises of 9½ percent for the 1980-81 school year were approved Tuesday night by the Granite City Board of Education for campus monitors and teacher assistants. All are non-certificated employees.

The yearly salaries of monitors, who help supervise high school students, was increased by $878, from $9,250 in 1979-80 to $10,128 this year.

Teacher assistants will be paid $4.71 an hour, a rise of 41 cents from the past year's hourly pay of $4.30.

In other business, the board improved the vacation schedule for administrators to specify three weeks for those who are employed 12 months a year and have one to four years of service; four weeks for five to 15 years; and five weeks for 16 or more years of work.

All years of experience in the Granite City school district will be credited toward vacations, but outside experience will not be credited for vacation purposes.

All accrued administrator vacation days above five, as of May 31, 1979, are frozen at that point; no further days may be accrued. May 31 of each year will be the final day in which that fiscal year's vacation time may be taken.

Once the accrued days fall below the frozen point, the new total will become the new maximum. All other eligible administrators may not accrue more than five days' vacation.

During Tuesday night's meeting, the school board hired Richard Singleton and Bert Houston III as campus monitors at Granite City High School South.

Cheryl Compton was employed as a vocal music teacher at Coolidge Junior High School for 1980-81.

No action was taken on an existing administrative vacancy.

Donna Swanson was hired as a secretary in the school district's accounting department, and Walter Volkmar was employed as a building custodian.

Mathew Gasparovic was employed to transport two deaf students each day from Granite City to Collinsville, as soon as classes begin in the Collinsville school district.

Dorothy Bailey of the Johnson Elementary School faculty is ending her extracurricular work as supervisor of after-school activities.

Extracurricular assignments for the new school year include Gus Lignoul and Stan Hale as assistant football coaches at Granite City High School North, Dick Yates as an assistant football coach at Coolidge Junior High, and Ron Yates as an assistant football coach at GCIS South.

It was decided to create a new teaching assistant position in Madison Region I (Granite City, Madison and Venice) at an estimated cost of $5,600.

The cost is to be reimbursed by the state and by the Venice district, where a physically handicapped student who is to be assisted is a tuition student.

The student's individualized education program for the 1980-81 school year requires a full-time aide, and the teacher assistant position will be based at Grigsby Junior High.

With Board Members Robert Maxwell and David Partney abstaining, the board approved on 5-0 votes attendance by Ronald Landman, maintenance supervisor of the school district, at the American School Business Officials meeting in New Orleans Oct. 26-30 and by Board Member George E. Moore Sr., school district treasurer, at a National School Boards Association meeting of all seven of its task forces Sept. 21-23 in Washington, D.C. Moore serves on the 1980-81 task force on present and future vocational education needs.

The board approved 1981-82 participation in a foreign student exchange program sponsored by the Granite City Rotary Club. 1980-81 was approved previously.

Under the plan, a local student studies overseas for a year, and a foreign student simultaneously attends classes here.

Formal board approval was given Tuesday night to policies on free student meals and reduced price meals, as initially authorized by the board at its Aug. 12 meeting.

With no one from the public asking to speak during a brief hearing, the board adopted without change the 1980-81 Quad-City area special education budget that was voted tentatively on July 22.

The $311,120 special education budget is up $41,414 from a year ago.

It provides $70,210 for administration ($44,239 a year ago), $205,660 for instruction ($193,217), $4,050 for operations ($3,750), $500 for maintenance (same), $24,700 for fixed charges ($22,000), $5,000 for contingencies (same) and $1,000 for equipment (same).

The budget adds $9,200 for a bookkeeper and includes a $7,332 increase in the allocation for psychologists.

HELPING FAMILY. Robert H. Karandjeff, vice president and cashier of American Heritage Bank, left, accepts $305 cash from representatives of Charlie's Restaurant to be added to a fund at the bank aiding the Grady White family of 1362 Norwood Drive. White and two of his daughters were seriously injured and a daughter, Lisa, 15, was killed in an auto accident Aug. 11 in Wyoming. The family has incurred large medical and funeral bills as a result of the accident. The Bunch-O-Fun Band, which is appearing at Charlie's agreed to play one hour beyond its normal quitting time one night and all of the money spent during that hour by the customers was given to the fund for the White family. From left are Karandjeff, Charles Hester, owner of Charlie's; Phil Barkley, leader of the band, and Dennis Meyer of Charlie's. Donations for the White family may be sent to American Heritage Bank.

Faith sewer repaired—at last

After more than a year of between Buxton and Myrtle bypass pumping of raw avenues, permanent repairs sewerage around a were completed at 7 p.m. deteriorated section of city yesterday.

sewers on Faith Avenue Granite City Street

Department employees worked three weeks to replace 335 feet of damaged sewer pipe, frequently working in water, since the sewer is below the ground-water level, according to Street Superintendent Lionel Portell.

The crews worked from 8 a.m. through 7 p.m. yesterday to complete the repairs and start sewage flowing through the new pipe.

"We had a good crew and they worked hard, sometimes in the muck, to get this job done. At last, it is finished and it is working fine," Portell said.

CHURCH BURGLARIZED
The West Madison Apostolic Church, 703 Jackson St., Madison, was burglarized between 11:30 p.m. Tuesday and 6:40 a.m. Wednesday. Forced entry was made and an air conditioner was stolen.

Daisy B. Cornet

Mrs. Daisy B. (Bennett) Cornet, 76, of 1811 Richmond Ave., was found without signs of life at her home at 11:39 a.m. Wednesday, Aug. 27, 1980.

She was under a physician's care for emphysema and a heart ailment, but had not been acutely ill.

Mrs. Cornet was found lying on the kitchen floor. She was discovered by her brother-in-law, Nelson Ross, 1509 Richmond Ave., who summoned police. She was last seen at 9:30 p.m. Tuesday and appeared to be in reasonably good health at that time, her relative said.

Madison County Deputy Coroner Randall A. Irwin pronounced Mrs. Cornet dead at 11:56 a.m. Wednesday. There were no signs of foul play.

She was born in St. Louis and had lived there most of her life, coming to Granite City nine years ago.

Mrs. Cornet was employed for 10 years by St. Louis Title and Abstract Co. She was a member of Unity Church in Granite City and the Madison County Homemakers Extension Association.

Among the survivors are two sisters, Mrs. Nelson (Norma Jean) Ross of Granite City and Mrs. Royden C. (Leda Belle) Weister of Linn, Mo.; two brothers, Malcolm M. Bennett of St. Louis and Norman H. Bennett of Chicago, and several nephews and nieces.

Funeral services will be held at 11 a.m. Saturday, Aug. 30, at Randall A. Irwin Chapel for Funerals, 2801 Madison Ave., with the Rev. Royden C. Weister officiating.

Burial will be in Memorial Park Cemetery, St. Louis. Friends may call after 4:30 p.m. Friday.

Zachary Lindley

Zachary William Lindley, 23-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. George (Beverly) Lindley, 2511 Grand Ave., died at 11:43 a.m. Tuesday, Aug. 26, 1980, at Cardinal Glennon Hospital, St. Louis.

The child had been ill five days and was in hospital for the same length of time.

Zachary was born in Granite City. Besides his parents, he is survived by his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George Lindley of Brighton, Ill., and Mrs. Ruby McKenney of Mascoutah, Ill., and his great-grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Hill of Muscle Shoals, Ala.

Funeral services were held at 1 p.m. today, Aug. 28, at Mercer Mortuary Chapel, 1416 Niedringhaus Ave. Burial was in Sunset Hill Cemetery, Edwardsville Township.

Hattie Marler

Mrs. Hattie (Asby) Marler, 78, of Newburg, Mo., a former long-time resident here, died at 10 a.m. Monday, Aug. 25, 1980, at a hospital in Rolla, Mo. She had been ill two years and was hospitalized one week.

Mrs. Marler had resided in Granite City 50 years before moving to Newburg 15 years ago. She was a native of Elvins, Mo.

She was of the Baptist faith and was a former member of Calvary Baptist Church.

Among the survivors are her husband, Lonzo Marler; one son, Winford Marler of Granite City; five daughters, Mrs. Rachel Maxwell of Newburg, Mrs. Nadeen Roberson of Moline, Ill., Mrs. Audrey Callahan and Mrs. Shirley Callahan, both of Granite City, and Mrs. Delores Luedtke of Virginia; 26 grandchildren and 24 great-grandchildren.

Services were held at 1:30 p.m. Wednesday, Aug. 27, at the Mule Funeral Home in Rolla. Burial was at a Rolla cemetery.

John R. McDowell

John Riley McDowell, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Gary (Vicki) McDowell, 136 Voight Place, Mitchell, died at 3:30 a.m. Wednesday, Aug. 27, at St. Louis Children's Hospital.

The baby was born at 1:54 a.m. Monday at St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

Survivors include his parents; one sister, Amy McDowell, age 2; paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Morris (Viola) Diefenbach of Springfield, Ill., and maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Leon (Mary) Kozelek of Granite City.

Private graveside services are scheduled for today at Sunset Hill Cemetery, Edwardsville Township.

Esther Schmitt

Mrs. Esther Schmitt, 81, New Douglas, Ill., a former long-time Venice resident, died at 6 p.m. Wednesday at St. Francis Hospital in Litchfield, Ill., following an apparent heart attack.

Mrs. Schmitt was ill for the last 10 years and had been in the hospital since Monday, but not for heart problems.

She was of the Catholic faith. Mrs. Schmitt was born in Venice and resided there until 1955 when she and her husband, Arthur Schmitt, moved to New Douglas. He is surviving.

Other survivors include a daughter, Miss Theda Schmitt, who lived with them in New Douglas; a sister, Mrs. Hazel Weigert of Maryville, and numerous nieces and nephews, including several in the Quad-City area.

Mrs. Schmitt was preceded in death by two brothers and one sister.

Funeral arrangements are being made by the Lesicko Funeral Home in Livingston.

Marie Scurlock

Mrs. Marie Louise (Ferris) Scurlock, 25, of Rural Route One, Big Rock, Tenn., a former local resident, was found dead in her home by a neighbor on Monday, Aug. 25, 1980.

An investigation into the circumstances of her death currently is being conducted by a medical examiner and an inquest is pending.

Mrs. Scurlock had moved from Granite City to Big Rock, located near Dover, Tenn., about two years ago. She had resided here 13 years and was formerly active in the local Flipperette CB Club.

Mrs. Scurlock was born in Fort Wayne, Ind. She was a member of the Church of Jesus Christ of the Latter-day Saints in Fairview Heights.

Among the survivors are a son, Jason Andrew Scurlock and a daughter, Jennifer Marie Scurlock, both of Dover, Tenn.; her mother, Mrs. Marcella Westwood of Madison; seven brothers, Richard and Clifford Ferris II, both of Granite City, Michael Ferris of Sarasota, Fla., Robert Ferris of Salt Lake City, Utah, Larry and David Westwood, both of Madison, and Jerry Westwood, who is serving with the U.S. Army in Alaska; four sisters, Mrs. Linda Sands of Madison, Mrs. Barbara Hand of Granite City and Mrs. Judith Johnson and Mrs. Martha Morrison, both of Fort Wayne, Ind.

Her stepfather, Harry Westwood of Madison, died Nov. 4, 1978, and a sister, Mrs. Patricia Meyer, died in 1975.

Services will be held at 1 p.m. Friday, Aug. 29, at Randall A. Irwin Chapel for Funerals, 2801 Madison Ave., where friends may call at the present time. Burial will be in Sunset Hill Cemetery, Edwardsville Township.

Wilmer C. Watkins

Funeral services were held at 1 p.m. Wednesday, Aug. 27, 1980, for Wilmer Clifford Watkins, 60, of Granite City, who died at his home at 6:40 a.m. Monday, Aug. 25, following a 10-year illness.

Mr. Watkins was a World War II veteran of the U.S. Air Force, having served from 1940 until 1945, and a member of Calvary Baptist Church.

He was employed as a fleet superintendent for Lindley Trucking Service in Granite City and had worked for the firm for 30 years.

He was a native of Vandalia, Ill., and had lived in Des Moines, Iowa, before moving here.

Mr. Watkins was a member of Masonic Lodge 835, AF&AM; Gabriel Shrine 78, Order of the White Shrine of Jerusalem; Granite Chapter 650, Order of Eastern Star; Almad Shrine Temple; Tri-City Shrine Club and the Scottish Rite Bodies.

Among the survivors are his widow, Mrs. Dorothy (McFord) Watkins; two daughters, Mrs. Dennis D. (Patricia) Miller of Des Moines and Mrs. Robert W. (Pamela) Vasquez of Granite City; a son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce M. (Donna) Watkins of Granite City; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hillard (Senia) Sides of Rector, Ark.; and eight grandchildren.

Funeral and Masonic services were conducted at Bob Thomas Memorial Mortuary, 2205 Pontoon Road. Burial was in Sunset Hill Cemetery, Edwardsville Township.

KNIFE CONFISCATED

Gordon Pierson Jr., 21, of 2109 Illinois Ave., was charged with disorderly conduct in the 1400 block of Jackson Street at 12:25 a.m. Sunday. Madison police confiscated a wooden stick and a case knife.

ANNEX ASKED

On Aug. 4, 1837, the government of Texas requested that the United States annex the republic.

TROOPS WITHDRAWN

On Aug. 4, 1838, U.S. forces in Cuba, stricken with yellow fever and food poisoning, were ordered home.

Grants encourage innovation to solve education problems

The three R's — reading, writing and arithmetic — are the basis for several of the 72 projects being funded under Title IV grants by the Illinois State Board of Education for the 1980-81 school year.

The competitive grants under Title IV, Part C, of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act total about $7.9 million in federal funds this year.

The grants are broken down into three main categories: planning, development and demonstration. Projects designed to meet a community's educational needs, based on priorities set by the State Board, are awarded development grants.

A demonstration grant is given once a program has been evaluated and proved successful. Planning grants provide funding for school districts in the process of developing proposals for ensuring development projects.

Of the 72 grants awarded, six are planning grants; six are first-year development and demonstration, and the others are development and demonstration continuation of projects already under way.

Increasing concern for greater proficiency in basic skill areas has led to the funding of such projects as "Micro," a planning grant awarded the Hinsdale district. It is aimed at improving the logical and critical thinking skills and the mathematics achievement of gifted, average and disadvantaged children in grades 4-8 with the use of microcomputers.

"Time to Write," a first-year project being implemented by the Chicago district, is designed to meet the need for improving students' expository writing skills.

The mainstreaming of handicapped students into the "least restrictive environment" is another issue addressed by the Title IV grants. "Mass," a first-year development project, was proposed by Charleston. It tries to facilitate the mainstreaming process through introduction of microcomputers into special education classrooms.

Programs directed toward helping parents, administrators, gifted and handicapped students are also among the first-year projects being funded this year.

Recommendations for grants are made to the state superintendent of education by the Title IV Advisory Council, a committee mandated by the federal government. Development grants are also reviewed by a panel of educators not related to the State Board.

After being assessed and validated by a group of educators from other states, successful projects become qualified for the Illinois Demonstration network.

The network gives schools throughout the state an opportunity to adopt programs to help deal with local educational problems at minimal cost.

Four projects in Madison County have been approved. Highland schools will conduct a first-year developmental project, Writing Skills.

The Edwardsville school district has a developmental continuation, Planning and Teaching for Responsible Behavior.

Developmental and demonstration continuations are planned in Bethalto, Positive Attitudes Toward Learning, and in Collinsville, Parenting — Utilizing Prekindergarten Skills.

Millett in telecast on Central America

Richard L. Millett, professor of historical studies at SIUE, will be featured in an NBC television documentary. The 90-minute program focusing on turmoil in Central America and the Caribbean area will be broadcast Sept. 3.

An authority on Central America, Millett holds degrees from Harvard University and the University of New Mexico. He has made five guest appearances on the McNeill-Lehrer Report, and has been a guest on radio programs for Canadian Broadcasting and National Public Radio. He is also a consultant to ABC, CBS and NBC News.

Millett is the author of several books and magazine articles, including "The Restless Caribbean: Changing Patterns of International Relations," and has lectured on two occasions for the foreign Service Institute of the State Department. He is also a senior research fellow for the Council on Hemispheric Affairs, a human rights lobbyist organization in Washington, D.C.

Supt. Briggs to speak Wednesday

Harold Briggs, Madison County Educational Service Region superintendent, will speak at the St. Mary-St. Mark's Parents-Teachers-Friends (PTF) meeting Wednesday, Sept. 3, at 7 p.m. at Englebert Hall, Tenth Street and Washington Avenue, Madison.

All parents are encouraged to attend the "welcome back to school" meeting, according to President Margaret Scharf. Pupils in the first grade classes will provide entertainment.

Benefit jamboree this weekend at Township Hall

A jamboree to benefit the Shriner's Children's Hospital in St. Louis and the Granite City Senior Citizens has been planned for Saturday and Sunday, to take place at the Granite City Township Hall, 2000 Delmar Ave.

The public is invited to attend the jamboree, which is being sponsored by three Granite City CB's, Rosser T. McGee, Joe Barchewski and Otis Holt. According to the proceeds will go to the Children's Hospital and 25 percent will go to the senior citizen group.

Hours will be from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday and Sunday. A dinner dance will be held Saturday at 6 p.m. A donation of $5 per couple is requested for the dinner dance. Advance tickets may be obtained by calling Joyce Kopic at 452-2344 or Dorothy Holt at 877-7122.

Display tables featuring crafts, games, jewelry and various items for sale will be offered during the two-day event. Prizes will be awarded each hour, according to the chairman. Cash donations and prizes have been donated by local merchants, it was noted.

Self-confidence called important

By SUE BORSTEIN Coordinator of Community Education
Mental Health Services
Southern Madison County

Self-confidence is a quality most of us admire in others. It is the ability to see yourself as basically good at what you do, and as having the skills to complete a task effectively.

While self-confidence is somewhat dependent on the positive characteristics we really have, recognizing these characteristics in ourselves is also very important.

In this sense, self-confidence can be learned and taught.

For example, to increase self-confidence in children, make a daily habit to point out to the child what is really good about him or her.

Try not to do for the child what he can do himself.

Encourage the child's first attempts, however awkward they are, to help you and do things for himself.

At the same time, don't pressure the child to do more than he or she is actually capable of doing.

To increase your own self-confidence, try not to concentrate on your weaknesses.

When you catch yourself counting up your weak point, take time to put those in perspective by also counting up your strong points.

A simple exercise is to ask yourself each day, "What do I do well?" and "What accomplishments did I make today?"

Be sure to list them all in your mind. As your self-confidence grows, you may just find yourself able to do things you didn't think possible.

For more information on this subject, contact the coordinator of community education in Granite City (877-4420), Edwardsville (656-8721) or the Highland area (654-7232).

HOME STUDY COURSE ON REALTY SALES

Fulfilling the educational requirements needed to take the Illinois real estate salesperson's licensing examination no longer requires access to a classroom. A new Illinois 30-Hour basic real estate transactions home study course allows the student to study at his or her own pace while preparing for the ACT-ILS licensing exam, even if classroom sessions are not held at locations near the student.

Approved by the Illinois Office of Education, the home study course consists of a loose-leaf study guide used in conjunction with Modern Real Estate Practice, 8th Edition, the most widely used real estate text in the U.S. Students also receive the Illinois Supplement to Modern Real Estate Practice, 8th Edition, a supplement keyed to the study guide and the text with discussions of specific Illinois real estate laws and practices.

Family has changed throughout history

By NATALIE ZEMON DAVIS

(Third in a series of articles on "American Families in Transition," Copyright 1980 by the Regents of the University of California.)

Change in the character of family life is nothing new. We often think that the extended family household with obedient wives and children has existed for centuries.

But to the fathers of classical Rome, the sons of colonial America would have seemed too independent, while the husbands of 17th-Century Europe would have been shocked at the freedom with which 10th-Century wives disposed of their property.

"When I got married at about 34, an old peasant wife was supposed to have said in the 16th Century, 'I knew nothing about making love, but nowadays there's hardly a lad over 15 who hasn't been up to something with the girls.'"

However differently the family has played its roles, it has always been a central institution for individual survival and childbearing.

Until the 19th Century, how well you supported yourself as a single person? A prosperous farm requires the labor of the whole family, the husband and his aids doing the plowing, the wife, her daughter and servants the dairying, and the younger children the berrying.

The poor family pooled what income it had from agricultural labor, spinning and domestic service.

Well into the Industrial Revolution, factory girls were sending wages back to their parents.

Widows and widowers hastened to remarry if they could. If they survived into old age, they hoped to live with a nearby son or daughter; failing that, they might try to set up a household with a young couple with whom they had family-like relationships.

Children were also prized in early modern Europe and colonial America. With these constraints, they could carry on the family line, and maybe even advance the family's fortunes.

One son inherited the farm, and his brother might go off to the city to apprentice with a weaver. One son took over the father's business in overseas trade, and his brother might study the law.

One daughter was married to a shoemaker like her father, and her sister might make a better match with a printer.

DISCIPLINE—WITH LOVE.

This sense of cooperation between the generations—that the young were acting not just for themselves as individuals, but for the family—was achieved by using both the "carrot" and the "stick."

Childbearing was a matter of controlling sinful instincts and shaping body and character. Beating and humiliation were used, but so were praise and expressions of affection.

That moralists had to remind parents "to spare the rod and spoil the child" means that coddling was still going on.

Each stage of childhood was marked off by certain tasks and by certain expectations about behavior.

Around age seven, for instance, boys left their mother's side to tag after their fathers, while girls were taught to spin.

Parents demanded that their children be obedient to their wishes. They would make the decisions about careers and marriages, but would take into consideration the son's talents and the daughter's preferences.

Self-expression and having a mind of one's own were clearly not important values in the pre-industrial world as they are today, but parents did hope that their children would be energetic and enterprising in pursuit of family goals.

To a surprising degree, the system worked. Children quarreled and sued each other to win their rightful share of an inheritance, but they also helped each other get on in life.

HUSBANDS AND WIVES.

The husband was the authority over his wives, he also had it over his spouse.

The Bible had said it: the wife was subject to the husband, and he must protect and correct her.

Rich or poor, she had to put whatever property she brought to the marriage under her husband's control.

In Europe, her dowry was set up in a marriage contract, which also spelled out what the spouse who died first would give the survivor.

Within these constraints, the experience of marriage varied enormously.

At one extreme were husbands who bullied their wives and wives who bullied and even hit their husbands.

At the other were husbands who wrote in their diaries, "My dear wife exceeding tender and careful of me" and wives who reported, "So constant was my husband in his affection that when I ceased to be young and lovely, he began to show even more fondness."

The good marriage was not based on romantic love; a passionate attachment was thought a bad sign, as quick to end as it was to begin.

But people did believe that a well-arranged marriage could ripen into deep friendship and tenderness.

And what choice did you have? Only the richest people could afford a Protestant divorce or a Catholic dissolution of their marriage.

Only the most desperate of poor men would risk the perils of survival on their own.

Better stick together and hope that the common causes of childbearing, sexual need, and economic gain would carry you through.

If your marriage were not happy, perhaps you might outlive your spouse and make a better match next time.

As for the wife's subjection to her husband, she could hope that her contribution to the farm, workshop or household would make it harder for him to abuse her.

And she might follow the advice sent by a 17th Century lawyer to his newlywed daughter: "Everything that is in your house must be under your supervision and by your consent, but it must always appear that it is by the advice and initiation of your husband."

"Your late mother and I lived in this fashion and we never raised our voices to each other."

"May God give you the grace to pass the rest of your days together with as much happiness and patience as we did."

FAMILY SUPPORTS.

The family structure and values that we have been describing had long been sanctified by religious teaching and received the support of the church, the state, and the secondary schools that were spreading for middle-class boys and girls by the 18th Century.

The well-ordered patriarchal family was thought of as a little commonwealth, as a training ground for the good citizen, obedient subject and Christian.

What changes occurred in the family in the 18th and 19th centuries?

Strengthened rather than weakened that institution, at least among the middle and upper classes.

Domestic love was increasingly accepted as a basis for marriage.

The private intimacy of the middle-class home became increasingly the ideal in both Europe and America.

With industrial capitalism, the separation of male work and production from the home made it an even more privileged place.

There, wives tended to strictly domestic duties, worried about furnishings, kept things increasingly neat and tidy, and fussed more and more over their children's health, character and education.

Parents were somewhat less formal and less punitive toward their children, though underlying patterns of authority changed very little.

Things looked different to working-class families, as children flocked to factories, husbands became mere wage-earners, and some wives might even be in and out of the labor force between babies and child-bearing.

Drink and unemployment were both threats, and yet the working-class household did not dissolve.

Along with kin and neighbors, the family could still be thought a haven.

In the words of the contemporary scholar Richard Hoggart, recalling his traditional working-class upbringing in England: "Where almost everything else is ruled from outside, is chancey and likely to knock you down when you least expect it, the home is yours and real; the warmest welcome is still 'Mek yerself at home.'"

250 at Mt. Zion Church 30th anniversary event

1951, and the building was completed and dedicated in October, 1954.

Six charter members and two former pastors, the Rev. Truman Collins of Louisville, Ky., and the Rev. Donald Clark, attended this week's anniversary event.

Members delivered the message at the morning worship services.

The day's activities included a covered dish dinner in the fellowship hall and an afternoon of music and singing, under the direction of Ed Collins, song leader.

Other participants were the Country Gospel Singers of Wayne City, Ill. The Rev. Dale Price is the associate pastor at Mount Zion General Baptist Church.

Released to Florida police

James Hill, 19, formerly of Granite City who is believed to have been living in Florida, was taken into custody 3 a.m. Tuesday when he was found asleep in a pickup truck in the 3100 block of Kirkpatrick Homes and a check of the Florida license plates revealed the vehicle had been stolen.

Hill, who had no identification, appeared before a judge at 10:45 a.m. Tuesday and waived extradition proceedings.

He was taken by local police officers Wednesday to Lambert-St. Louis International Airport and released to detectives from Brookville, Fla., who had a warrant for Hill's arrest. The warrant charged grand theft-auto.

The truck, belonging to a resident of Crystal City, Fla., had been stolen from a shopping center in Brookville, he contended.

Hill said he had left Brookville about 5 p.m. Sunday, Aug. 24. He allegedly said he financed his trip to Granite City with money he found in a wallet in the truck.

Girl escapes serious injury

Margaret S. Peery, 6, of 2221 (rear) Lee Ave., escaped serious injury at 5:10 p.m. Tuesday, when she ran across the street and hit the side of a passing car.

Lamon C. Lancaster, 59, of 3801 Franklin Ave., told police he was driving north on the 2200 block of Lee Avenue when the child ran into the street and struck the right side of his auto.

An ambulance was called to the scene, but Margaret was taken by her parents to St. Elizabeth Medical Center, where she was treated for abrasions to the right leg and released.

South FSA officers plan club activities

Mrs. Pat Allen, the new faculty advisor for GCIS South Future Secretaries Association, had her first meeting with officers of the FSA Chapter at the home of Mrs. Charlie Yuvovich, FSA chairman of the Tri-Cities Chapter, National Secretaries Association (Intl.), the sponsoring chapter. Mrs. Allen succeeds Mrs. Jeanette Holder as faculty advisor.

Mrs. Allen said after examining grades of incoming juniors, she has found that approximately 100 will be eligible for membership. These students will be notified of their eligibility through notices sent to their home rooms, and will be invited to attend the chapter's first meeting if they would like to join.

Any student who believes she is qualified, but does not receive a notice, may notify Mrs. Allen in Room 203 and her grades will be rechecked. Notices should be received by Sept. 8.

At the initial meeting a panel of four or five former FSA members who have been working will be featured. Coordinating the program and also appearing on the panel will be Dawn Cox, former FSA president, now employed at Hill & Mateyka. The chapter will now meet on the second Monday. The meeting night has been changed at the request of the school, due to a conflict with BAC classes.

New members initiation was set for Sunday afternoon, Oct. 19, at the Central Christian Church, 2020 Johnson Road. Senior FSA members will bring refreshments.

Nancy Moore and Kathy Plebanek, board members at large, have been assigned the task this year of coordinating refreshments for the initiation as well as preceding the monthly meetings.

Democratic Day Sept. 1 at homecoming

Democratic Day at the annual Bethalto Homecoming is set for Monday, Sept. 1, with Secretary of State Alan J. Dixon and U.S. Congressman Melvin Price (D-22nd Congressional District) among the distinguished guests.

The homecoming, to be held in Bethalto's Homecoming Park, will open tomorrow and will continue through Sept. 1.

Democratic Day is sponsored by the Madison County Democratic Central Committee and the highlight will be a political rally from 8 to 9 p.m.

Other speakers scheduled include Congressman Dale Robinson of the 20th District, State Senator Sam Vadalabene (D-Edwardsville), State Representative Sam Wolf of the 56th District (D-Granite City), Jim McPike of the 56th District (D-Alton), most county office holders and others.

The Democratic tent is located next to the entertainment tent. All participants in the Democratic rally are being asked to gather in the Democratic tent.

Organizers of the homecoming expect 10,000 persons to attend during the four-day event.

Other programs for the year were discussed. The officers suggested programs by judo experts at the YMCA, and with personnel people who will be asked to advise what they expect from job interviews.

An FSA "Olympics" again will be held against the FSA Chapter at GCIS-North and a tentative field trip also was discussed.

A requirement by NSA (International) is for a minimum of six educational meetings to be held each school year, and candy cannot be present at each meeting, it was noted.

Mrs. Allen said a new school rule forbids the sale of candy any time during school hours, and candy cannot be brought into the school to be sold after classes. The chapter must think of new ways to raise money for the treasury, she added.

Officers present for the meeting were President Judy Weller, Recording Secretary Loretta Rutledge, Treasurer Lora Scarborough and board member-at-large Nancy Moore.

Social Security guide available

By OLIVER HOLMES
District Manager

What should a woman know about Social Security? Quad-Cityans may ask at any Social Security office for a free copy of "A Woman's Guide to Social Security." They may call 274-4100 or toll free by asking the operator for Enterprise 1-555.

People who have a permanent kidney failure may be able to get Medicare protection to help pay the costs of dialysis or a kidney transplant and other health care costs.

Just about all the business anyone may have with Social Security can be handled over the phone, we are reminding area residents.

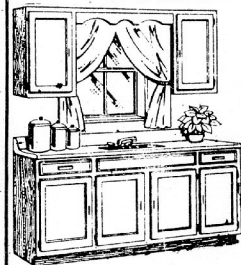

We suggest that, if you're a recently married woman, notify Social Security of your new name.

Also, apply for your Social Security number several weeks before you need it for a job.

Each person builds disability, retirement, survivors and Medicare protection by work and earnings credited to his Social Security number.

Tribute to Rev. O'Guin

By VALERIE EVENDEN
of the Press-Record

The Rev. C. M. O'Guin, pastor, author and Christian journalist, will be honored during a special program Sunday, Aug. 31, on the occasion of his 65th year as an ordained minister.

His 65th anniversary observance will be celebrated at 2 p.m. Sunday at the Madison Recreation Center, Seventh Street and Lee Avenue, Madison.

The Rev. O'Guin was responsible for founding the First Assembly of God Church and Tri-City Park Tabernacle, both in Granite City.

He served for 30 years as pastor of Trinity Tabernacle Church in Madison. Members of his former pastorates, church leaders and other friends are expected to attend Sunday's tribute.

Madison Mayor Mike Sasyk will offer the welcome. The principal speaker will be Dr. Worden McDonald, president of Southern Bible College.

In honor of his six-and-a-half decades in the ministry, the Rev. O'Guin received a congratulatory letter from Governor James R. Thompson, written on behalf of the people of Illinois.

Expressions of tribute from church leaders and others, including Illinois State Representative Everett G. Steele (R-56th Legislative District), will be read at the observance.

The Rev. O'Guin was born in Linden, Tenn. In 1921, he started the First Assembly of God at 24th Street and Grand Avenue, and in 1927 went on to establish the Tri-City Park Tabernacle at 12th and Meridian Streets. The latter church has since moved to Maryville Road and Clark Avenue.

Three years ago, he formally retired from the ministry after three decades of service at Trinity Tabernacle in Madison. Recently, however, the Rev. O'Guin began his career as a pastor once again at the Victory Pentecostal Church, 2601 Cayuga St. Presently he resides at 2020 Cleveland Blvd. In the early 1950s, the Rev. O'Guin was one of the first preachers from the Midwestern states to visit Israel after that nation attained its independent status. Gov. Thompson stated in his letter to the minister, "It has been brought to my attention that, on August 31st, you will be celebrating the happy occasion of your 65th anniversary in the ministry."

REV. C. M. O'GUIN.

"This is an outstanding achievement, and I am delighted to take this opportunity to congratulate you on behalf of the people of the State of Illinois.

"Few people have displayed your tremendous dedication and deep-seated devotion to your fellow man. Your writings and your gift for public speaking have given the fundamentals of Christianity's true depth and meaning to our citizens of Southern Illinois."

"Because you have lived so unselfishly, many lives have been made more peaceful, more content and much happier. There is no greater gift a person can give to others.

"Thank you for the great work you have done. You have been an inspiration to us, and I hope your work continues for many years to come."

"This world is a better place because you have lived," the letter concluded. Two television stations, both cable and commercial channels, have indicated they will attend Sunday's program and film the activities for future telecasts. Area women will provide refreshments during the program.

Propose home for wards of the court in Venice

By MICK STRANGE
of the Press-Record

The Children's Home and Aid Society of Illinois has the right to refuse any child who exhibits disruptive behavior patterns, they said.

Venice residents will be hired for the center, when possible. The agency is funded by the state of Illinois, the aldermen were told.

After a brief questioning period, the aldermen agreed the center probably would be good for the community. Although the group does not need council approval, Director Hall noted that they would prefer to fully explain their operation, so it is not confused with non-professional foster care homes.

The Aid Society also offers counseling and adoption services, in addition to caring for children who have some type of family problem. The society works with children and parents, trying to reunite families, when possible.

The children will go to school in the community, it was explained. No timetable has been set, the aldermen were told.

Children's Home and Aid Society of Illinois is a private agency and contracts with the Illinois Department of Children and Family Services. The state will have to give the final approval after all preliminary studies are finished, the planners concluded.

The children will be wards of the state and will come from the three counties, not necessarily Venice.

Holiday rest stops

The Free Spirits REACT Team (Radio Emergency Associated Citizens' Teams) of Granite City will conclude its fourth year of highway safety breaks on the Labor Day weekend.

The Free Spirits REACT Team has held highway safety breaks each major holiday weekend since 1976, providing free coffee, lemonade, tea, cookies, and highway safety literature. Located at the intersection of Interstate 270 and Route 111, in Mitchell, the REACT organization has served more than 20,000 free cups of coffee.

Labor Day weekend, the Free Spirits REACT Team will be cooperating once again with the Illinois State Police, the Illinois Department of Transportation and the Federal Department of Transportation in operation C.A.R.E. (Combined Accident Reduction Effort).

The operation is designed to reduce the number of accidents on major holiday weekends.

Motorists are encouraged to exercise extreme caution while traveling this weekend and to observe all traffic laws to arrive at their destinations safely.

The Free Spirits REACT Team is inviting everyone to stop by Route 111 and Interstate 270 for "free refreshments and some friendly conversation," according to a club spokesman.

First meeting in new Pontoon Beach building

By KATHY SMALL
of the Press-Record

The Pontoon Beach Village Board met Tuesday night for the first time in the new Village Hall at 3910 Highway 111, formerly occupied by Central Baptist Church.

It was noted during the meeting that previous meetings had been held at the home of Juneau & Associates Inc. (formerly Sheppard, Morgan and Schwaab engineering and consulting firm) for bituminous resurfacing of streets, according to a letter from George Shanahan of Juneau & Associates.

It was further agreed to pay the village $2,083 for engineering fees and to pay MacLair Asphalt Co. $134,812 for work on the street.

Pontiac, Ill., is estimated to be $12,669 for street improvements and $7,103 for engineering fees were referred to Robert Hennessey, village attorney, for claim.

Board members approved a recommendation from the Juneau firm appropriating $15,000 from motor fuel tax funds to cover the remaining bills for the street repairs.

In other business, the board agreed to purchase a Pontiac Chevrolet automobile from Quality Pontiac of Alton for $6,760 for use as a police car.

The village received a check from Madison County Special Services Area Number One for the sum of $14,500 for a land purchase for a county sewer building. The land the county purchased from the village is located east of Route 111 and north of Pontoon Road.

Shirley Gaudette, wife of Trustee Raymond Gaudette Jr., presented the Village Board with a new American flag.

(CIA) hosted the local explorers the next morning.

The young men were met Paul M. Chretien, who holds four college degrees and was a college instructor in sociology, a university instructor in philosophy, a government economist and a prep school football and track coach before joining the CIA.

He said there is a great public interest in the nation's intelligence system. The CIA believes that as much information as possible about the CIA and the Intelligence Community should be shared with the public.

After a film presentation on the CIA, Chretien said, "Much intelligence work is secret and must remain so. However, I will be glad to answer as many questions as I can."

Chretien then answered a multitude of questions from the explorers and their leaders.

The CIA does not normally allow groups to visit their main headquarters in Virginia, however the local explorers were allowed inside in 1974 by then Director W. E. Colby, and the same courtesy was extended this year.

The explorers were told that anyone wishing to obtain information about the CIA or the Intelligence Community may write to: Office of Public Affairs, Central Intelligence Agency, Washington D.C., 20505.

On July 26, 1977, President Harry S.

Truman signed the National Security Act of 1947 which established the CIA. "We are determined never to have another Pearl Harbor," Chretien said. He noted that in California, the Association of Retired CIA Officers was organized recently and are sponsors of an explorer post.

Unlike the CIA, DEA or Secret Service, the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) conducts regular public tours.

With the cooperation of Roger S. Young, inspector in charge, Office of Congressional and Public Affairs for the FBI, members of Post 10-4 received a private tour, followed by a special briefing by Inspector John J. Burke.

The First National Bank in Madison purchased an FBI Academy tee-shirt for each member of the group.

U.S. Congressman Melvin Price (D-23rd Congressional District) also spent time talking to the explorers in a private conference room. Most of the conversation centered around the military. Cong. Price is chairman of the House Armed Services Committee.

Explorer Post 10-4 spent one evening of their trip with Explorer Post 695 of the Fairfax County, Va., police. Fairfax County has the largest police department in the state of Virginia with a uniformed force of 754 officers. They sponsor three explorer posts.

The explorers then were treated to "Washington at Night," a three-hour custom bus tour of Washington's historic monuments. The tour was paid for by a Madison merchant.

The most impressive thing in Washington, according to the young men who went, was the new Metro subway system. One explorer described it as, "Right out of Buck Rogers."

The adults supervising the trip were: William Weidner, post advisor; Randy Afolter and Randy Garrity, associate advisors, and W.F. "Mick" Strange, post coordinator.

Explorer Post 10-4 begins its 12th year of operation in October. It is the second oldest post in the Cahokia Mound Council and became the first law enforcement post in the local council.

John Bargiel is post president, Madison Police Officer William Weidner is post advisor, Officer Gary Marsala is chairman and W.F. "Mick" Strange is the post coordinator.

Strike at Collinsville Holiday Inn

A strike by employees of the Collinsville Holiday Inn has crippled food services and hampered other operations, according to the striking employees. Motel officials said rooms still are being rented and management personnel from several motels are assisting in operating the large motel.

The strike began at 12:01 a.m. Tuesday and pickets have been placed at the motel 24 hours a day. The motel's Bavarian restaurant has been closed and several banquets have had to be cancelled.

On strike are employees who recently joined Teamsters Local 525 of Alton. Those involved are all non-management employees, with the exception of housekeeping employees, who are represented by the Hotel and Restaurant Employees Union. They also are honoring Teamster picket lines, a spokesman for the Teamsters said.

The strike is over refusal of the management to recognize Teamsters Local 525 as the bargaining agent for the employees, who were non-union until joining the teamsters Aug. 11, the union spokesman said. She added that employees felt compelled to join a union because the management refused to recognize the seniority rights and other complaints of the employees.

The union filed for a court injunction Tuesday to force a fast election by the National Labor Relations Board. If that election is held, the NLRB could force the management to recognize the Teamsters and to begin negotiations on a contract within 10 days of the election, the union said.

Of the 80 employees in the Teamster's union, only three crossed the picket line Tuesday and two crossed

Benefit Camelot auction on Oct. 4

The annual Rotary and Optimist Camelot auction, a dinner event held to raise funds for charity, is set for 5:30 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 4, at Sunset Hills Country Club. A social hour is planned for 5:30 p.m., followed by a buffet from 6 to 7:15. The auction will begin at 8 p.m.

Tickets costing $15 per person are being sold by the Granite City Optimists and Rotarians. Members of the two clubs currently are contacting potential donors of goods and services to be auctioned.

Those in charge of the benefit event are John Voyles, Earl Buenger and James Vinning of the Granite City Optimist Club and John Tallgren, Donald Van Horn and Paul Milhalch of the Granite City Rotary Club.

Plans for the auction were reviewed at Tuesday's weekly Rotary luncheon, where President George Moore Sr. presided and Al C. Stoevers served as program chairman.

Wednesday, the spokesman said, voted Aug. 11 to join teamsters.

Teamsters on strike, about 20 other employees are honoring the picket line, the Press-Record was told.

Continuing education for dentists

A series of monthly workshops to help dental professionals keep up with the newest procedures will begin in September at the SIUE School of Dental Medicine.

The day-long sessions will range from an update on possible pre-cancerous conditions in the mouth to programs for financial management or efficient use of dental assistants. The workshops are open to all dentists and auxiliary personnel and offer credit through the department of continuing dental education.

The series begins Sept. 10-11 with a workshop on improved procedures in crown and bridge prosthodontics, to be held on the Robert E. Lee riverboat on the St. Louis riverfront. Maurice H. Martell, associate clinical professor of Tufts University School of Dental Medicine in Boston, will direct the program.

Other sessions will include Recognition and Management of Medical Emergencies in the Dental Office, Oct. 4; Overdentures and Prosthodontics, Oct. 20; Composites in Modern Dentistry, Nov. 21; Security Through Practice Financial Management, Dec. 5; Efficient Utilization of the Dental Assistant, Feb. 4; and an Update of Oral Pathology for the General Practitioner, Feb. 25.

GC man, 21, stabbed in leg

Ronald Hanner, 21, of 2301 Twentieth St., was stabbed in the right thigh during a disturbance in the 2900 block of Harding Boulevard at 3:30 a.m. Wednesday.

Hanner was taken by a friend to St. Elizabeth Medical Center. Treatment was given the wound and he was released.

Responding to a disturbance call at a residence in the 2900 block of Harding, police arrived to find several people in a front yard and a woman inside screaming. A total of 13 people, four women and nine men, had been either inside or immediately outside the dwelling during the disturbance, police learned.

Officers were told an argument ensued after a name-calling bout and a man allegedly had struck one woman and kicked a second woman.

In the ensuing melee, Danny Poe, 21, of 2435 Logan Ave., had been kicked in the rib area and was knocked to the ground.

Poe was carried outside the house and taken to St. Elizabeth Medical Center. He was treated in the emergency room and released.

At 5 a.m. Wednesday, SEMC security personnel called police to the hospital emergency room, where Hanner was being treated for a stab wound to the thigh.

Hanner related he was walking past a man and woman who were wrestling on the floor at the Harding Boulevard address and the next thing he knew, he had been stabbed by a woman, reportedly from Madison.

Someone then told him to leave the dwelling, because police were coming, so he left, Hanner said.

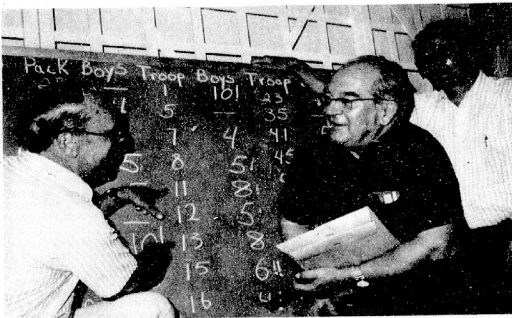

A man told police he had found Hanner walking in the street and had taken him home, applied first aid to the wound and then transported him to the hospital.

Due to conflicting accounts of the incident, no arrests had been made Wednesday.

DISORDERLY CHARGE

Police found John Inman, 28, of 1714 Delmar Ave., allegedly acting in an erratic manner and staggering around in traffic at Nameoki Road and Garfield Avenue at 5:20 p.m. Tuesday. The same man was reported acting in a similar manner a short time earlier at Nameoki and Ponton Roads. Inman was taken into custody, and charged with disorderly conduct.

NEW MEMBER PLEDGES are reviewed by Boy Scout leaders, from left, Al Pace, Fred Mercer and Randy Smith. Uniwha (Quad-City area) District leaders pledged to recruit more than 150 new Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts and Explorers between now and Dec. 31. The theme for the drive is "Scouting... the Better Life Roundup 1980."

SCHOOL NIGHT FOR SCOUTING will be held in 26 area schools at 7:30 p.m. on Monday, Sept. 25. Plans are being reviewed at a special recruiting drive meeting Monday. From the left are Nancy Nemeth of Cub Pack 122, Ron Luebben, coordinator of the special night, and Carol Fowler of Cub Pack 22.

Seek federal grant to train handicapped at beauty school

In an effort to prepare handicapped students of the Granite City school district to be more job ready, a program has been developed by owners of the Granite City School of Beauty Culture, teachers of handicapped students, and the coordinator of off-campus education.

The proposal includes taking three handicapped students every nine weeks to the beauty school for preparation in the area of shampooing, wigging and related sanitation.

Students can be selected from the educable handicapped, multiple handicapped or trainable classes, as deemed available, to participate in the process.

A proposal has been submitted to the U.S. to apply for Comprehensive Employment and Training act funds totaling $13,277 to pay for:

1. Classroom stipends of 12 handicapped students, and classroom stipends for four students from the vocational child care program to assist, $1,547.
2. Transportation for handicapped students, $3,500.
3. Tuition for handicapped students, $1,500.
4. Equipment for handicapped students, $850.
5. Portion of off-campus coordinator's salary and three hours a week work by a study coordinator, $6,079.

Arrest four on Edgewood

What neighbors reported as an all-night party and fight in the 2900 block of Edgewood Avenue brought officers to that area at 11:30 p.m. Tuesday and resulted in the arrest of four people, including a juvenile girl.

Four officers responded to the call and alleged finding Victor L. Griffin, 20, of 2804 Edgewood Ave., and the juvenile girl arguing and shouting in the street.

A second man, Roy A. Walters, 20, of 2813 Edgewood, allegedly involved in the disturbance, also was arrested. All three were charged with disorderly conduct.

As officers were leaving the scene a man, identified as David B. Potts, 32, of 2804 Edgewood, came out of a house and allegedly struck a woman with his fist.

An officer placed him under arrest and he was charged with battery.

Potts and Griffin were released on payment of $35 cash bonds at 2:35 a.m. Wednesday and the juvenile girl was released to her father on notice to appear for a hearing.

WOMAN ARRESTED Wendy C. Jackson, 19, of 2504 Grand Ave., was charged with battery after she allegedly struck Danny McCallister, 1634 State St., in the face during an argument at his home at 8:30 p.m. Tuesday. She was released on notice to appear for a hearing.

Revise GC curriculum on writing skills; progress on competency tests

On the recommendations of B. J. Davis, superintendent of schools, and Warren Collins, curriculum coordinator, who reviewed summer curriculum workshops, the Granite City Board of Education on Tuesday night approved new course outlines, student objectives and syllabuses. Collins related that "11 curriculum workshops were held during the summer months. Four of the committees have provided course outlines or syllabuses."

"Regarding elementary social studies, prior to the study and screening of the social studies textbook series, the committee revised the developmental learner objectives in grades K-6."

"The suggested student objectives are broad enough in scope to be used with the materials currently in use, and are suitable for any future textbook adoption; yet the skills to be introduced are specific enough to provide a sequential development of social studies skills."

"After examining textbook series from every major publisher, the committee recommended staff consideration of the Follett and Macmillan series. K-6 classroom teachers will make a final recommendation during the fall semester."

"In the field of elementary spelling, although all major publishers were invited to submit materials, very few of these firms offer a formal spelling program."

"Despite the fact that only eight publishers provided copies, each was unique in approach and format. The committee recommended staff consideration of the Silver Burdett and McGraw-Hill programs."

"A recommendation for adoption of one of the two programs will be made to the board after a majority selection by personnel is made this fall."

"Regarding elementary intermediate level writing, last year a pilot program, Project Write On, was introduced at the fourth and sixth grades at Maryville School."

"The success of the program prompted us to seek board approval to develop a syllabus and extend the program into all elementary buildings on a voluntary basis."

"Copies of this syllabus are entitled Let's Write. This is so complete that it is difficult to think of it being merely a syllabus. Let's Write contains all original material by Victoria Boyd, Sandra Hughes and Helen Kuenstler."

"The syllabus will be of benefit to any teacher at any grade level who wants to develop student writing skills," Collins commented.

"In regard to junior high and senior high school expository writing, a 1980 summer workshop was dedicated to the task of developing a logical and sequential method of teaching writing skills at the secondary level across interdisciplinary lines."

"The suggested program calls for coordination and uniformity among all departments, but with special emphasis placed in library and media specialist, social studies and English Departments."

"The program calls for specific skills to be introduced at specified levels."

"A short workshop on junior high health was designed to coordinate and unify the junior high health curriculum."

"A textbook revision was not proposed, but uniformity was suggested according to board policy. The basic course content remains unchanged."

"On competency testing or enablement skills testing, we have completed one year of a two-year pilot program on our district-developed tests."

"Six of the eight tests were revised during the summer workshops. Some have had minor changes, while others have undergone extensive revisions."

"Following state legislative action, a status report on competency testing will be submitted to the board. We do not anticipate any problems in our compliance with any legislative action," Collins concluded.

Industrial sites here and in county still numerous

"From our perspective, it was totally successful," said the way Greg Mudge, assistant to Dr. Robert Koepke, SIUE coordinator of area development, describes an all-day tour of industrial sites in Madison County, held this summer for 11 representatives of the Illinois Department of Commerce and Community Affairs.

A similar tour is contemplated in St. Clair County.

Mudge says, "The DCCA people we were primarily doing this for were surprised by the amount of industrial land we have down here. Madison County has not been looked on as having much industrial land. We took a whole day pointing out 'land on your left, land on your right.' They were pleasantly surprised."

"Both the DCCA and the sponsors were pleased by the organization and scope of the tour. Some of the developers, the people right here, were surprised at the amount of sites available."

"Dr. Koepke is looking forward to an on-going process of cooperation between Madison County sponsors and the DCCA."

Mudge said Koepke's office is still assembling data which will be supplied to the DCCA.

SIUE sees its role as that of catalyst.

The leader of the DCCA tour contingent was Dean Whitaker, who is not unfamiliar with Madison County, since he used to be with the former Illinois Department of Business Development when it maintained an office on the SIUE campus.

Another of the DCCA people, Mike Godt, is a Collinsville native. Others were Sue Douglas, Barbara Shelly, Tom Hamrick, Tom Wimberly, Chuck Kafka, John Carpenter, Doug Redford and Mike Hudspeth.

Gary Fears represented the Collinsville Eastgate project. He displayed an architect's sketch of the proposed Illinois Department of Transportation district headquarters to be built at the west edge of the Eastport site near Interstate 70 and Highway 157.

Those in addition to the DCCA team who were on the tour were:

Carl Ranft, Tri-City Port District manager; Jim Livingston, Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce manager; Bill Shreck and Kenne Keene, Collinsville Chamber of Commerce and Collinsville Economic Development Commission; Jim Holdreid, Regional Commerce and Growth Association; Jim Moonshower, Illinois Power Company economic development representative; Mike Boer, Southwestern Illinois Metropolitan Regional and Planning Commission; Dr. Koepke, Aaron Riebur and Mudge, all of SIUE.

Harry Button, Alton, Metro-East Chambers of

Homer Adams, Adams Development, Alton; Mr. and Mrs. Larry Manns, Manns Development, Esplanade; John Grueling and A. S. Taylor, Edwardsville Economic Development Commission; Ralph Kott, Construction Co., Highland.

Lloyd Schwarz and Bill Benson, Land of Goshen Chamber of Commerce; Rick Hunter, Cassens and Sons; Merrill Ottwein, Cottonwood Company; Fears; Wally Nagle, Highland Chamber of Commerce; Charles Kuldell, Byron Farrell and Robert Weis, IMAGE labor-management relations group; and Richard Stevens, Union Electric Co.

Enters station through window

A burglar made a large hole in a plexiglass window at the front of the Fina Service Station, Venice Avenue and Nameoki Road, crawled through the opening and stole $50, Bill Stearns, reported to police Monday.

A cash register and cabinets were ransacked and $10 in currency and about $40 worth of coins were taken from a soft drink vending machine and a cabinet.

Arrest driver in 3-car mishap

Clarence H. Hoffman, 37, who gave addresses in Pawhuska, Ill., and the 800 block of Kirkpatrick Homes, was charged with driving while intoxicated and failure to reduce speed to avoid an accident at 4:30 p.m. Tuesday on Madison Avenue at 20th Street.

Police alleged Hoffman's pickup truck, northbound on Madison Avenue, struck the rear of a vehicle operated by Sharon A. Mroz of Staunton, pushing her car into the rear of a vehicle driven by Birdia R. Hardman of St. Louis.

Both the Hardman and Mroz vehicles were stopped at a traffic signal light. Hoffman was taken to police headquarters, where he allegedly declined to take a breath test and was detained.

Steals shirts from Leader's

Between six and eight knit shirts, valued at $12 to $16 each, were stolen from Leader's Department Store in Crossroads Plaza Shopping Center at 12:15 p.m. Monday.

Ray Arnold, manager, said a man ran from the store with the shirts, without paying, and got into an auto driven by a woman. The vehicle then headed south on Nameoki Road.

The thief was described about 25 years old, six feet, three inches tall, of thin build, weighing about 170 pounds, with a "very dirty" ruddy complexion and blond "bushy" hair. He was wearing a white T-shirt and blue jeans.

The woman driver was about 25 years old. She had medium brown hair and wore a black "flimsy" top and jeans.

Birth rate decline in Madison Co.

The birthrate decline in Madison County continued last month, according to the monthly statistics compiled by the office of Madison County Clerk Evelyn Bowles.

She noted that during July, 249 births were reported in the county (121 boys and 128 girls), compared to 315 births in the same month of 1979 (146 boys and 169 girls).

A total of 178 deaths occurred in Madison County during July, up slightly from 172 in the same month of the prior year.

The number of marriages was down slightly from 293 in July, 1979, to 235 last month.

Damages house during burglary

A burglar not only stole several items but also punched holes in the walls of the living room, bedroom and hallway at the home of Wilma Long, 2556 Iowa St., $86 reported at 2:40 p.m. Monday.

An 1896 blue steel Colt pistol, an instant camera valued at $160 and a police scanner worth $80 were taken from the dwelling.

Also taken were an aluminum ladder worth $50, a food ladder valued at $75 and two sections of guttering and drain pipe from outside the house.

Madison Ethnic Days "successful"

The fifth annual Madison Ethnic Days, held during the weekend, was one of the best ever, according to a fire department spokesman.

"The weather was great and so was the crowd," Mike Mack, coordinator of the event, said. "We have already started on plans for next year," he added.

The Madison Fire Department, sponsor of the event, reported that 750 pounds of pork steaks, 600 shish ke-babs, more than 200 chicken dinners and untold quantities of other types of food were sold on Sunday.

The affair included carnival rides, ethnic food booths run by various local organizations, music, dancing, bingo.

There were five deaths in Alton on July 11 and three in Upper Alton on July 11. A servant died of cholera in the household of the DeBows, friends of the Flagg family.

Dr. Lathy and his wife were said to be exhausted by the business. Close to home, the cobler, Mrs. Howie, and his wife both succumbed to cholera. Mrs. Jacob True of Bunkers Hill lost both her husband and son, and Mr. and Mrs. Springer both fell victims.

Mr. Wyman, Willard's teacher at Smith Academy, wrote that he had just recovered but that his brother was gravely ill and that a Mr. Richards was dead.

The epidemic lasted until the weather broke and the hot, wet spell was replaced by cooler, drier days. By July 29, only 14 deaths per day were reported in St. Louis.

Swamps converted to farms in county

By BARBARA LAWRENCE and MARVIN SOLOMAN (This is one of a series of articles about early Madison County, based on material taken from the Flagg papers, a collection of manuscripts written by the Flagg family and housed in Lovejoy Library at SIUE.)

Settlers on the prairie found nature both friend and enemy. Rich soil made farming profitable, but the climate was treacherous.

Before the prairie was converted to farmland, it was wet and marshy. The grass held the moisture, preventing good drainage and providing a breeding place for mosquitoes.

Horse flies were so bad a horse would be covered with blood after a few hours on the prairie. Also, the stagnant water and dank air contributed to a variety of illnesses.

The summer and early fall months brought an illness known as "feaver and ague," a mysterious combination of fever and chills.

After the 1830s, cholera was another threat during hot, wet weather. And such diseases as smallpox, "milk sickness," consumption, or even "congestive brain fever" plagued the residents.

Several early travelers through Illinois wrote to friends and relatives in the east, telling of entire households or villages sick with the "ague" or perhaps cholera.

There were numerous cholera scares in Madison County and adjacent areas, especially St. Louis. In 1849, a cholera epidemic of frightening proportions swept St. Louis. The Flagg family received reports of up to 140 deaths per day in the city.

In mid-July, Willard Flagg wrote, "We are told of seven coffins being taken from Chouteau's Pond and one from a cellar, but this is almost too horrid to believe. It would make a reality of the dreadful accounts of pestilence of bygone ages."

Boats coming up river were frequently infected. The "Board of Health" to quarantine all passengers and crew until they were deemed safe.

Willard wrote in July 1849 that of 400 persons aboard one boat, only 75 survived.

No doubt many of the reports were highly exaggerated, but known deaths in the neighborhood lent credibility to the wildest reports.

There were five deaths in Alton on July 11 and three in Upper Alton on July 11. A servant died of cholera in the household of the DeBows, friends of the Flagg family.

Dr. Lathy and his wife were said to be exhausted by the business. Close to home, the cobler, Mrs. Howie, and his wife both succumbed to cholera. Mrs. Jacob True of Bunkers Hill lost both her husband and son, and Mr. and Mrs. Springer both fell victims.

Mr. Wyman, Willard's teacher at Smith Academy, wrote that he had just recovered but that his brother was gravely ill and that a Mr. Richards was dead.

The epidemic lasted until the weather broke and the hot, wet spell was replaced by cooler, drier days. By July 29, only 14 deaths per day were reported in St. Louis.

Those who could, fled St. Louis. On Aug. 1 Willard wrote that there were two men, three women and an indefinite number of children staying overnight at the Flagg's. They were "refugees on their way back to St. Louis."

Before cholera reached the Midwest in the 1830s, there were the summer complaints of ague and milk-sickness, a disease which first infected animals and then people who ingested milk or flesh of the infected animals.

It was thought that some poisonous substance was communicated from animals to humans, but little was really known about the disease.

Gershon Flagg frequently wrote of the unhealthy conditions in Illinois.

On Sept. 15, 1819, he was "taken sick with the fever (sic) & ague," which lasted nearly two months.

At that time, he said he would try living here one more season and if his health continued to suffer, he would leave.

The winter brought other hardships, and Gershon wrote several times of men freezing to death while attempting to cross or becoming lost on the uninhabited prairie.

Still, the lure of land and the promise of self-sufficiency brought increasing numbers of people—some from as far away as England or Germany.

The swampy, unhealthy prairie lands were gradually converted to prosperous farms, and these improved conditions made the once hazardous prairie a choice place to live.

Three held in robbery

Three persons are being held in the Madison County jail and a fourth person is being sought by Venice police in connection with a strongarm robbery during the weekend.

Jessie "Pokie" Manson, 24, of 201 Weaver St., Venice, has been charged with two counts of robbery and bond is set at $10,000.

Diane Parnell Compton, 25, of 1100 Calhoun St., Venice, is being held pending the posting of a $50,000 bond on two counts of robbery.

Vickie Rene Dandridge, 27, of 1325 Klein St., Venice is being held in lieu of $10,000 bond, also charged with two counts of robbery.

William J. Wellmaker, 56, of Washington Park, was robbed of a $1,200 ring, a $300 ring, a silver lighter, a billfold and $10 at 6:40 a.m. Saturday, Aug. 23, he told Venice officers.

His brother, Ralph Wellmaker, 52, Washington Park, was robbed of two rings with a total value of $890, billfold and $70, police were told.

The strongarm robbery occurred in a home in the 1300 block of Klein Street in Venice.

Local Lions on district cabinet

DONALD PATRICK

RICHARD BRIGHT

The district cabinet serves as the governing body of District 1-G, which covers 12 southwestern Illinois counties with 40 Lions Clubs. The cabinet members consist of a district governor, lieutenant governor, four deputy district governors, a secretary-treasurer, 10 zone chairmen, and 25 committee chairmen.

The three local Lions were officially installed in their new positions last week when the cabinet met for its first meeting of the year. The cabinet meets quarterly—or when a special meeting is called by the governor—at different locations throughout the district.

The cabinet meeting last week was in Pontoon Beach, hosted by the Pontoon Beach Lions and Lionesses Clubs at the Lions Den II, 3901 Lake Drive, Pontoon Beach. It was the first time the 1-G Cabinet has met in the Quad-City area.

Pontoon Beach Lions Club President David Schermer and Lionesses Club President Nancy Goodwin gave the official welcome address to the cabinet members and their wives, when the meeting convened Governor Fenton chaired the meeting.

Patrick, 32, has received promotion to deputy district governor after serving two years as zone chairman. It is believed that Patrick's promotion to deputy district governor will lead Lions in the southern part of the district to place his name in nomination for lieutenant governor at the district convention in Carlinville next April.

If elected, Patrick would then be assured of becoming district governor in 1982, becoming the first governor from the southern end of the district since Mel Schuchardt of the Godfrey Lions Club in 1976.

Patrick, who is serving as zone chairman, recommended and sponsored Lions Goodwin and Bright for their cabinet appointments last April to then Lieutenant Governor Fenton.

Patrick was elected president of the Pontoon Beach Lions Club in 1976 and currently is serving as the club's secretary-treasurer.

Dr. Goodwin, 63, is a professor of education at SIU at Edwardsville, was appointed as the district's vision coordinator and activities chairman.

This will be Dr. Goodwin's first appointment to the 1-G Cabinet. He was an active member in the Jacksonville, Fla., Lions Club and served on that state's district cabinet before moving to the Quad-City area.

Dr. Goodwin was elected vice-president of the Pontoon Beach Lions Club in 1978 and club president in 1979. He now serves on the club's board of directors as immediate past president. His wife, Nancy, is a school teacher in the Madison School District and is currently serving as president of the Pontoon Beach Lionesses Club.

Bright, 35, a chemistry teacher and athletic director at Dupu Senior High School, was appointed as the district's Leo chairman. His duties will consist of promoting and assisting the clubs in the district in sponsoring Leo clubs.

The Leo Club Program offers opportunities for young boys and girls between the ages of 15 and 19 to become involved in the activities of a sponsoring Lions Club. This will be his first appointment to the 1-G Cabinet.

Bright was elected vice-president of the Madison Lions Club in 1975 and president in 1976. He has been serving the Madison Lions Club as secretary since 1977.

His wife, Linda, is employed as secretary with the Consolidated Aluminum in Madison. They have one son, John, who is 11 years old.

Stallings School will visit the building Sept. 2.

Applications still are being taken for the weatherization program and the Economic Opportunity Commission is taking applications for assistance with this summer's utility bills for persons needing air conditioning because of health related problems, those attending community development projects, said work has been completed on the remodeling of the State Park Community Center and the projects for a park and sidewalks between Kretnier School and State Park grade schools will begin by mid-October.

He also announced that a committee established to look into the purchase of fire marshal, it was explained.

Fifteen members of the volunteer fire department attended the seminar, which was arranged by Fire Chief Lee Paul.

Arson investigation team now in Mitchell

Suspicious fires in which arson is suspected will now be investigated by members of the Mitchell Volunteer Fire Department.

An arson investigation team currently is being established by department members who attended a special one-day seminar this week at the Mitchell Fire Station.

The course, entitled Arson Investigation, was conducted by State Park Fireman Ron Bell and Doug Brown from the Maryville Fire Department.

Both instructors are members of the Southern Illinois Arson Investigation Association.

The Mitchell firefighters are now responsible for setting up their own investigation squad, Robert Sander, a member of the department advised.

The team will conduct preliminary detailed examinations at possible arson scenes as soon as a blaze is extinguished.

Previously, an investigation into suspected arson cases was deferred until the arrival of a state fire marshal, it was explained.

Drug information volunteer aides will be trained

"Aid through Information on Drugs (AID) is an organization made up of people who care and need to express this caring through involvement with others. Like all organizations, we continue to exist and grow only by adding new members to our family."

"If you feel you would like to be a part of our group, we invite you to participate in our volunteer training program beginning Sept. 16," a spokesman said this week.

"As a volunteer at AID, you will learn to counsel people who call on the hotline, or who come into the Drop-In Center. You will also help with administrative and clerical responsibilities, as well as with planning activities."

"After 24 hours of training in the area listed below, you will observe experienced volunteers at work for six hours. We request that after the training is over you commit yourself to volunteering 50 hours of your time to AID."

The philosophy of AID is to be accepting, supportive and non-judgmental. AID is a place of caring and giving and fulfillment.

"We need your caring if we are to continue to provide help for those who need it. If you are interested in becoming involved, call us at 345-5200, or drop by at 4133 Vandallia St., Collinsville."

The training schedule is as follows:

Sept. 16, 6:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m., and Sept. 18, 6:30 to 9:30 p.m., communication skills.

Sept. 20, 1 to 4 p.m., assertive training.

More patrols during holiday show that state troopers CARE

The Illinois State Police will again participate in the National Combined Accident Reduction Effort (Operation C.A.R.E.) during the Labor Day Weekend.

The program, initiated in 1977 by Illinois, Michigan, Indiana, and Ohio has been expanded to include all 48 participating states. State Police Superintendent R. J. Miller has designated all interstate highways in Illinois as A.R.E. routes.

The program seeks to demonstrate the harmonious interstate cooperation in traffic enforcement and accident reduction between states during high traffic volume national holiday periods.

Through the use of high visibility patrols on the interstates, the State Police will endeavor to encourage voluntary compliance with the 55 mile-per-hour speed limit, as well as adherence to other laws, including improper lane usage, following too closely, and improper passing.

Troopers will be especially alert for drivers under the influence of alcohol.

Captain Glenn H. Huffman, commander, District 11, stated, "Operation C.A.R.E. gives us a chance to show the public we care about their safety. We hope motorists care enough to slow down and drive safely."

Free coffee will be served by volunteer organizations and the Illinois Department of Transportation at various rest stations from 6 p.m. Friday until midnight Labor Day.

Seniors hear energy program

Anchorage senior citizens heard a program on energy conservation at a meeting last week.

Fred Cunningham and Jo Meyers of Illinois Fibre gave the presentation.

The Rev. Leroy Filby opened the meeting with prayer and President Georgia Butler led the pledge to the flag.

Sixty members attended. Guests included Mrs. Harriet Hoff, the daughter of Reha Bowler, and David Morgan.

It was noted that Nola Heine, Carmen Allen and Dovie Cox are in the hospital.

A Granite City Park Board picnic will be held at the Wilson Park ice rink Sept. 9. Games, dinner and dancing will be featured. Reservations must be made by calling the park office at 877-3059 by Sept. 2.

A Senior Fair will be held at a Southern Illinois University Sept. 19. A bus will leave Anchorage Homes at 8:30 a.m. and return at 3 p.m.

Mayor Paul Schuler and Charles Morlen donated coffee for the meeting. Augusta Lampe received the birthday flowers from Willis Florists. The group will next meet Sept. 3 at 1 p.m.

The THRIFTY TWINS

"DEAR — GRAB THE PRESS-RECORD, MAYBE GARY SCHNEIDER'S NUMBER IS THERE . . . I'M SURE HE'D LOVE THE TWINS FOR THE WEEKEND."

COMMUNE MANAGEMENT. Graduate students collect data from a Missouri commune to use in an urban affairs and policy analysis class. The SIUE students take what they have learned in the classroom about decision-making methods of urban policy analysis and apply it to real world problems. The commune was chosen as a study area because it provided a different type of learning experience from what students would ordinarily experience.

Urban lessons from —and for—commune

Establishing priorities, policy analysis, and strategic planning are not terms often associated with communal living. Yet, Mark Drucker calls them just as necessary for the successful management of a commune as they are for dealing with the problems of an urban environment.

He is acting director of the Graduate Urban Affairs and Policy Analysis Program at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, a program which trains students for urban-related public service jobs.

Since these jobs involve decision-making responsibilities, the students learn how to design and evaluate programs and to develop budgets and plans.

During their studies, they take what they have learned in the classroom about decision-making methods of urban policy analysis and relate it to real world problems.

A team of students in the graduate program included a commune in its study. Drucker said he was interested in working with the problems of commune management because it provided a much different type of learning situation from what the students would ordinarily experience.

"Within urban populations," Drucker said, "there are large numbers of interest groups with conflicting goals."

"It is difficult to implement policies with any bite to them. On the other hand, goals are shared in the communal environment."

"We were interested in East Wind — the commune studied — not because all the residents live together but because they share a strong sense of direction," Drucker said.

"East Wind is located outside Tecumseh, Mo., along the Arkansas border. Established in the early '70s the commune has had as many as 60 people living within its confines."

In addition to raising much of what they need with their animals and crops, residents of East Wind market their handiwork. Handcrafted articles, such as leather sandals, rope hammocks and hanging chairs, have been some of their more successful business ventures.

But some of their products are not selling as well as the residents had hoped. To keep their present standard of living, they need to replace the unprofitable articles with more marketable goods.

Currently, the group is considering the manufacture of peanut butter as a likely replacement. The residents would be able to obtain peanuts from another commune in Virginia, and they can sell the finished product through a retail co-op and health food stores.

Making a major change in the economic make-up of the commune is not the only concern of the residents. Maintaining good human relationships among the residents and providing a satisfactory chore organization are also high priorities.

"Even though they share a lot of the same beliefs and want to work to implement those beliefs, the people have different ideas as to what is most important to attaining those goals," Drucker said.

"Utilizing the policy analysis methods they had learned in the classroom, the SIUE students were able to provide the governing body of the commune with a variety of procedures for resolving their short-term problems while working toward long-range goals."

Suit alleges improper care during pregnancy

A 15-count lawsuit has been filed in Madison County Circuit Court against Dr. Hector Zevallos, Dr. Yogendra Shah and St. Elizabeth Medical Center for alleged improper care of a mother during her pregnancy.

The suit alleges that during the pregnancy, medical authorities failed to discover that there was an incompatible RH factor in the blood between the parents, James and Karen Poole.

Failure to diagnose or treat the problem led to a child being born injured, the suit contends.

Each of the 15 counts of the lawsuit seeks in excess of $15,000.

Local artists receive awards

Three members of the Granite City Art Guild received awards over the weekend at the Prairie Painters Art Show in Mount Olive, Ill., sponsored by the Prairie Painters Art Club.

Roger Hoover of Granite City won first place in oil painting, Debbie Roberts of Troy received first place in water colors, and Nellie Dierker of Granite City earned second place in charcoal.

Luke 6:19 ... "And the whole multitude sought to touch him."

Christ was a miracle worker. He healed the sick, opened blind eyes, made the dumb to speak, and even raised the dead.

Since He was no respecter of persons, had no favorites, set no rules to follow, the multitude sought to touch him. They came and He healed them all.

Christ is the same yesterday, today and forever. You can touch Him today and be healed. Set your mind on His ability and desire. Begin to activate your faith. Believe in Him and He will make you whole.

Today.

Stout-Rea vows heard at Suburban Baptist

Miss Rhonda LaDean Rea and Greg G. Stout were united in marriage in a candlelight ceremony Aug. 1 at Suburban Baptist Church.

A trinity candle adorned the altar as the Rev. Harold Garrett performed the double ring ceremony at 6:30 p.m.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Rea Sr., 2532 Pine St. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Alden J. Stout, 2818 Hemlock Ave.

Music was provided by organist Carolyn Belling and vocalists Randy Belling and Jennifer Miles. Selections included "If," "You Light Up My Life," "Sunrise, Sunset," and "We've Only Just Begun."

The bride chose a white organza over taffeta gown designed with an Empire bodice and a high ruffled collar, trimmed in Venice lace. The full skirt and chapel train were enhanced with matching lace.

Her bouffant veil, edged in Venice lace, was held in place by a lace headpiece. Her flowers were an arrangement of daisies, baby's breath and blue carnations.

Matron of honor was Debbie Copeland, a sister of the bride. Bridesmaids were Lisa Rea, a sister of the bride, Marlene Stout, a sister of the groom, and Becky Clay.

They wore identically styled gowns in a blue floral print. Pleated skirts, round necklines and blouson unites accented the dresses. Each carried a bouquet similar to the bride's flowers.

Serving as best man was Michael Copeland, a brother-in-law of the bride. Mike Baker, Dennis Stout, a brother of the groom, and Leonard Butler were groomsmen.

Ushers were Ron Rea, a brother of the bride, and Bobby Willis. A cousin of the bride, Tony Rea, was ringbearer.

Flower girl Stacy Roeder, a cousin of the bride, wore a white dress trimmed with blue and white lace. She carried a white basket with blue rose petals.

Candlelighters were Laurie Gilmore and Gay Wright.

The fellowship hall of the church was the setting for the rehearsal dinner. A reception was held at Croatian Home in Madison. The guest book was attended by Billy Willis.

Out-of-town guests included Mrs. Charles Blaylock of Scottsdale, Ariz., and Mrs. Kathy Hickman of Layton, Utah.

The bride graduated from Granite City High School North this year. She is employed at Equitable Life Insurance in St. Louis.

The groom is a 1978 graduate of North high school and is employed as a draftsman at McDonnell Douglas.

The newlyweds are residing in Granite City following a wedding trip to Branson, Mo.

Preceptors plan chapter events

The first meeting of the season for Preceptor Beta Gamma Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi was held in the home of President Delores Dorich.

The budget for the upcoming year was discussed and approved. A list of ritual jewels is to be completed for Preceptors, it was noted.

All committees were reviewed and will resume their status beginning in September, it was announced.

Norma Rains, yearbook chairman, will have yearbooks organized by the next meeting. It was noted there will be a Beta Sigma Phi City Council meeting Sept. 6.

Those present included Barbara Jones, Marilyn Lumpkins, Imogene Forrest, Arlene Haldeman, Carol Carney, Ruth Stoyanoff, May Ebling, Linda Koenig, Pat Tsigalaroff and two guests, Betty Ebling and her husband, Harvey Ebling.

Madison Amvets Auxiliary Unit 204 sponsored a "Kid's Day" last week.

Twenty-seven adults and 25 youngsters traveled by chartered bus to Grant's supervision of "Chef" Joe Papa.

Farm in St. Louis for a tour of the facility.

A large sheet cake decorated with red, white and blue icing was prepared and served in honor of the birthday of Mrs. Mae Jean Adams, president of the Madison Amvets Auxiliary.

Mrs. Adams said the auxiliary meets on the first, Tuesday of each month at the post home. She invited prospective members to attend.

The next business session is scheduled at 7:30 p.m. Sept. 2.

A Halloween party is being planned by auxiliary members for children and adults, it was announced. Details may be obtained at the post home.

you can BANK on it!

DREW KARANDJEFF

GRANITE CITY BANK

Q. A friend of mine showed me a newspaper article discussing the shortage of pennies at some banks. He said the problem arose because the value of copper has gone up enough to make the coins worth more than their face value. Is this true?

A. No. For the copper value of a penny to be worth more than the one-cent face value of the coin, copper prices would have to be higher than $1.50 per pound. In fact, most authorities estimate that when melting, marketing and transportation costs are added the value would have to be from $1.75 to $1.90 per pound before there could be any value in selling pennies for copper content. Your friend was probably partially correct, in that, the temporary upswing in copper prices earlier this year (to just over $1.40 per pound), probably caused some hoarding with anticipation that copper could enjoy a spectacular rise like gold and silver. Since then, however, copper prices have slid back to comfortably under the dollar per pound mark and spotty shortages of pennies have all but disappeared.

Mary T. Breidenbach weds Patrick Cochran

St. Charles Catholic Church in Salmon, Idaho, was the setting for the June 21 nuptials of Miss Mary Teresa Breidenbach and Patrick James Cochran.

The bride is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. William E. Breidenbach, 9 Eduardo Drive. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Cochran of Salmon.

Baskets of gladioli, roses and carnations adorned the altar as the Rev. Edwin Lisson of St. Louis performed the afternoon ceremony.

Music for the occasion was provided by the bride's sister, Cathy Breidenbach, Hugh Zavadi, Jim Breidenbach, the bride's brother, and vocalist Kit Oase.

Selections included "Longer Than," "The Wedding Song," "Ode to Joy," "Music Box" and Prayer of St. Francis.

For her wedding, the bride chose to wear a Victorian gown of delustered satin and Alencon lace. An inset of lace and chiffon accented the shirred bodice and the gathered skirt featured a panel of matching lace.

She carried a cascade bouquet of pink roses and carnations, white orchids and trailing ivy. She also wore a floral headdress of pink roses and white orchids.

Maid of honor Carol Reimsauer wore a green floral organdy gown with deep ruffles at the hemline and neckline. She held a cascade bouquet of pink and white roses and carnations and wore a matching green picture hat.

The groom chose Dan Flynn to serve as best man. Ushers included Ed Breidenbach, a brother of the bride, and Jack Slaght, a brother-in-law of the groom. Flower girl Michelle Godin, a niece of the bride, wore a yellow organdy gown and carried a basket of pink and white roses, carnations and stephanotis.

Mrs. Breidenbach, the mother of the bride, selected a formal length peach piana dress and floral chiffon jacket. She wore a corsage of white orchids.

The groom's mother, Mrs. Cochran, wore a long green gown with floral voile sleeves and a corsage of white orchids.

A rehearsal dinner was hosted by the groom's parents in their home. An outdoor buffet on the church lawn, prepared by Don and Rita Godin, the bride's brother-in-law and sister, followed the ceremony.

Out of town guests included the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. William C. Breidenbach; Mrs. Eulah Reis, Mr. and Mrs. Don Godin and children, Paul and Michelle, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Slaght, Maureen Cochran, Mr. and Mrs. Don Barnett, Vicki Runkle, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Reimsauer, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Stanley, Mrs. Ginger Walter and Ed Breidenbach.

The bride attended the University of Northern Colorado and Viterbo College in LaCrosse, Wis. She is currently employed as a dietitian.

Her husband attended Idaho State University in Pocatello, Idaho, where he received a master's degree in public administration.

Following a wedding trip to Oregon, the newlyweds are residing in Pocatello.

MARRIED. Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Cochran, who were united in marriage June 21 at St. Charles Catholic Church in Salmon, Idaho. The bride is the former Mary Teresa Breidenbach, the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. William Breidenbach of Granite City.

Julie Hord becomes Mrs. Tony Courtois

Miss Julie Elizabeth Hord became the bride of Tony F. Courtois in an afternoon ceremony at St. James Catholic Church in Potosi, Mo.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Truman Hord, 512 Rapp Road. Mr. and Mrs. Harold Courtois of Mineral Point, Mo., are the parents of the groom.

Father Donald Koch performed the double ring ceremony at 1 p.m. May 24. Musical selections included "We've Only Just Begun," "Sunrise, Sunset" and the Lord's Prayer.

The bride chose to wear the gown her mother wore on her wedding day, June 28, 1958. The waltz length dress of Chantilly lace and tulle was accented with sequins and pearls. Alternate ruffles of lace and tulle formed the full skirt. The dress also featured a square neckline and short lace sleeves.

A cap of sequins and pearls secured her fingertip veil and she held a rainbow bouquet of daisies, carnations, roses and baby's breath.

An aunt of the bride, Sue Lomax, attended the bride as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Debbie Barlock, Lynn Awalt, Nancy Brewer, a sister of the groom, and Donna Laughlin.

They were matching gowns in rainbow colors of green, orchid, apricot, pink and blue with capelet sleeves. The skirts featured tiered ruffles in the back caught up in roses.

The attendants carried bouquets of carnations and wore picture hats matching their gowns.

Angie O'Sha, a cousin of the bride, wore a yellow dress and a headdress of vari-colored daisies.

Derrick Coleman attended the groom as best man. Groomsmen included Greg Coleman, Roger Williams, a cousin of the groom, John Courtois, the groom's brother, and Lynn Portell.

Lance Hord, a brother of the bride, and Gary Williams, a cousin of the groom, seated the guests. Ringbearer was David Lomax, a cousin of the bride.

The mother of the bride, Mrs. Hord, selected a long pink A-line dress with a sheer overlay trimmed in lace. Her carnation corsage was tipped in pink.

Mrs. Courtois, the groom's mother, wore an aqua shortwaist style gown with long chiffon sleeves and an aqua-tipped carnation corsage.

The groom's parents hosted a rehearsal dinner in their home. The reception was held in the pavilion at 463-3170.

The bride graduated from Granite City High School North in 1978 and was employed at Budg Western Trucking in St. Louis prior to her marriage.

Her husband graduated from Potosi High School in 1974 and is employed at General Motors Corp.

Dillons celebrate golden anniversary

A marriage of 50 years was celebrated on Aug. 16 at the Sea Air Mobile Home Estates clubhouse in Huntington Beach, Calif., with a buffet reception held for Mr. and Mrs. William F. Dillon, hosted by their niece, Mary Rose Rotter of Granite City, her husband William Rotter, and their children, Mike, Laura and Erin.

Mrs. Dillon is the former Rena Colo of Granite City and attended Granite City High School.

Mr. Dillon, a former resident of Madison, is retired from Union Carbide Corp., having been with the company for 35 years as superintendent of distribution.

Mr. Dillon was an executive secretary for the same firm and later with the Navy Department.

The former local couple resides in California. Mr. Dillon presented his bride of 50 years with a gold medalion necklace in observance of the occasion.

The 150 guests were entertained by a musical group playing songs of the past. Lester Mapes sang a medley of songs requested by the honorees.

The highlight of the anniversary event occurred when a wheelchair was wheeled into the clubhouse with a pot of gold which was filled with silver dollars covered in gold.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Louis Tourse, Mr. and Mrs. William Rotter and family of Granite City, Mr. and Mrs. George Duff of Kansas City, Kans., Mr. and Mrs. John Duff of Whittier, Mr. and Mrs. Benny Barber and daughter, Janice, of Upland, Mr. and Mrs. George Hollon of Lancaster and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Callender of Laguna Hills.

Chapter members attend picnic

The Nu Zeta Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi began the 1980-1981 year with a family picnic at Wilson Park.

Members received new yearbooks made by Debbie Brown. Carol McRee announced the first meeting will be held Sept. 9 at her home.

Black Cat dance Oct. 10

The Madison City Democratic Auxiliary met at the Madison Recreation Center last week, with President Zella Niehaus in charge.

The meeting opened with members pledging allegiance to the flag and Chaplain Elizabeth Yankoff reading a prayer.

A discussion was held on the upcoming Black Cat Dance at the Crostian Home, Friday, Oct. 10. Music will be by the Terry Dutko Quintet. Treasurer Ida Dant reported the newly formed organization now has 40 paid up members.

The group will not meet in September due to attending a performance on the Goldenrod Showboat. Eligible members may contact Secretary Hilda Graville for reservations at 463-3170.

Sophie Derner and Pauline Dubish will be the hostesses in October.

Shower honors Kathy Walker

A bridal shower held last week for Kathy Walker was hosted by Ruth Petri, the prospective groom's mother, Gloria Wood and Alberta Becker.

The event was held at Petri's Cafe. Miss Walker and Larry Petri will exchange wedding vows Oct. 31.

Prizes were won by Theresa Taylor, Mary Wood, Carrie Walker, Shara Ryan, Ann Moylan, Marsha Diak and Gretchen Lehmann.

Others attending were Alberta Haynes, the bride-elect's mother, Mary Rose, Mary Ann Becker, Christopher Walker, Ina Haynes, Fanny Haynes, Delora Schreck, Erma Veach, Mary Long, Ruth Vorhees, Carlie Hoffman, Stephanie Koennman, Patricia Robbers, Nadine Ryan, Kathryn Jones, Virginia Butler, Theresa Taylor, Olivia Schroeder,

TO MARRY. A September wedding is being planned by Miss Brenda Jean Gerdes of St. Louis County and Gerald Joseph Mathes of Granite City. The prospective groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Mathes of Granite City.

Mathes-Gerdes betrothal

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence E. Gerdes of St. Louis County are announcing the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Brenda Jean, and Gerald Joseph Mathes, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Mathes of Granite City.

A September wedding, to take place in St. Louis, is being planned by the betrothed couple and their families.

Miss Gerdes is a 1976 graduate of Riverview Gardens (Mo.) High School and is currently employed by the Missouri Air National Guard.

Her fiancé graduated in 1975 from Granite City High School. He is employed at General Motors Corp.

Park board OKs levy

The Granite City Park Board of Commissioners passed the 1980 tax levy by a vote of three to one during Wednesday night's regular meeting.

The total amount of the levy is $364,085. A breakdown of the levy shows $231,000 for the corporate fund, $111,313 for recreation, $16,874 for the Illinois Municipal Retirement Fund, $2,058 for liability insurance and $2,885 for the audit fund.

President George Sykes voiced his opinion that there would be a surplus amount of monies available and that these monies should be earmarked for a particular project. He suggested that a sprinkling system and improvements of the water system in the Sieveking Gardens.

Commissioner Barry Loman made a motion that the surplus money be used for repairs needed on the ice rink roof. That motion failed on a 2-2 tie.

Jeff Worthen made a motion that the money be used for a project to be determined at a later date, but that motion also failed with a 2-2 vote.

The matter was not resolved and the tax levy was read and was passed by the board.

A resolution was proposed by Sykes thanking the Granite City Township officials for their support of the park district in allocating about $12,000 for recreation equipment which will be placed in a new, one-acre playground which will eventually replace the present playground near the main concession stand in Wilson Park.

Specifications for the equipment have been given to the township and bids for the playground equipment are due by Sept. 2.

Bids for a new plain paper copy machine were opened by the board with seven companies presenting nine copiers for demonstration to the park district personnel.

Deadline Wednesday for Junior Miss contestants

Girls wishing to enter the Junior Miss pageant, which will be held Oct. 12 in Granite City High School South auditorium, are being asked to call Sharold Yount, program chairman, at 931-4742, no later than Wednesday, Sept. 3.

An organizational meeting was held last week for Junior Miss entrants.

The contestants will sponsor a fund raising car wash Saturday, Aug. 30, at O'Brien Tire, 3924 Nameoki Road, and a bake sale will be held at a later date, it was noted.

Anyone wishing to make donations to the Junior Miss program are asked to call Mrs. Yount. Several area businesses have already pledged support, she advised.

Winner of the Granite City Junior Miss contest will receive a $2,000 scholarship to Huntington College in Montgomery, Ala., a John Powers Modeling scholarship, and several other prizes.

Entertainers from St. Louis and the surrounding areas will be on hand for the event. More details will be announced at a later date.

City engineer, inspection department in new offices

Effective immediately, persons needing Granite City permits for building, plumbing, heating, sewers or other permits should go to the Granite City Township Building, 2060 Delmar Ave., the new home of the city's engineering, the building inspection offices.

City Engineer Monroe Brewer, Traffic Engineer Ed Schulze, Building Inspector Tony Rusick, Inspection Secretary William Dallas Jr. and their assistants, as well as the city's plumbing, sewer heating and electrical inspectors moved from the street department office at 2301 Adams St. yesterday into the 1,100-square-foot office in the township building, which formerly housed the offices of Granite City Township Assessor Von Dee Cruse. Cruse moved into the basement of the city hall.

The Granite City Council approved the move last week.

Township buying playground equipment for Wilson Park

With the official decision this month that Granite City township may legally use federal revenue sharing grant funds for recreational purposes, plans are proceeding for the township to donate new playground equipment to Wilson Park.

Bids are being sought until Tuesday, Sept. 2, on four pieces of playground equipment, including two swing sets, a special slide and a combination piece of equipment with a ramp, a slide, climbing pole and other provisions.

The park district will pay delivery and freight charges for the new equipment. The bids will be considered by the Granite City Council, acting as the town board, next month.

Another revenue sharing project the township is under-taking is the fencing of areas of Anchorage Homes. Bids were to be opened at 1 p.m. today and will be considered by the city council Tuesday evening.

News notes

Jack Aakus and Bruce Humphrey, students at the University of Minnesota, have started a canoe trip down the Mississippi River to raise funds for multiple sclerosis, a neurological disease affecting adults aged 20-45. Their goal is to beat the world record of 42 days from departure in Alaska on Aug. 16 to arrival in New Orleans about Sept. 26. They will be passing through this metropolitan area either Labor Day or Tuesday, Sept. 2.

TV, CLOCK STOLEN

A burglar who pried off a padlock ransacked a bedroom and closet at the apartment of Steve Reed, 1710R Cleveland Blvd., Friday night and stole a 19-inch color television set, a digital clock, a portable fan and assorted tools.

STEAL 1976 AUTO

Sandra Sunderland of Alton reported at 11:35 p.m. Tuesday that her black, two-door 1976 Chevrolet Chevelle had been stolen from the Long Branch Tavern, 2105 Grand Ave.

Federal attorneys support township's use of revenue funds for light bleachers

Granite City did not violate any federal or state law or rule in using federal revenue sharing grant funds to help finance field lights for the sports complex on Fehling Road or for gymnasium bleachers at Granite City High School North, federal authorities have informed Nelson Hagnauer, supervisor of Granite City Township.

Hagnauer received a letter from Richard S. Isen, acting chief counsel of the office of revenue sharing in Washington, D.C., which supported the township's expenditure of the funds for the recreational projects.

The legality of the expenditures had been challenged by Granite City Alderman Charles Douglas, who also is a member of the town board, by virtue of being an alderman.

Douglas referred the issue to the office of the Illinois attorney general.

Shawn W. Denney, assistant attorney general in the Opinions Division, studied the issue and informed federal revenue sharing authorities in a letter March 10, that apparently no state laws had been violated.

The letter says, "...the determination as to whether the township expended funds in violation of section 123 (a)(4) will have to be made by your office since that determination turns on a construction of federal, rather than state law."

Isen, in a letter to Hagnauer dated Aug. 18, concluded, "Granite City, Ill., has not violated Illinois state or local law in expending its revenue sharing funds for the construction of stadium lighting and an expansion of gymnasium seating."

"The requirement that townships can only make expenditures for governmental purposes specifically authorized by state statutes has not been breached in the instant case."

He also said the expenditure seems to be within the federal revenue sharing guidelines, which limit township expenditures of revenue sharing only to those purposes for which the townships could use tax funds.

Specifically, the township act states that federal funds may be spent "for the construction of swimming pools and other recreational facilities," Isen noted.

Isen said his opinion applies only to the state laws specifically related to the expending of revenue sharing funds and "does not preclude anyone from seeking a state court's interpretation of state law," according to the letter.

Seek candidates for March of Dimes queen

Area CB radio operators are sponsoring a March of Dimes queen contest and are seeking girls and young women, 13 years of age and older, to enter the event.

More suits filed against GC Steel

Four men who contend they were injured during construction activities at the Granite City Steel division of National Steel Corp. have filed suits against the company.

The suits are the latest in a lengthy series of suits in conjunction with the recent expansion and improvement programs at the local company.

Hoyt Provov names Granite City Steel and its construction superintendent, Raymond Isom, as defendants in a two-count lawsuit stemming from a June 14 accident.

Provov contends he was a construction ironworker for M.H. Wolfe & Co. and was making additions and repairs to the basic oxygen furnace facility when he was hurt. The suit says he was on a platform drilling holes and the drill malfunctioned, throwing him around the platform and injuring an arm.

He seeks $25,000 each from the steel company and Isom, in addition to his costs.

Joseph LaMontague, another M.H. Wolfe & Co. employee, names the steel firm and Sachs Electric Co. of St. Louis in separate counts of a two-count lawsuit seeking $75,000 plus costs in each count.

LaMontague contends he was welding together portions of a guardrail at the basic oxygen furnace facility, and was walking on a pathway which was blocked by a pile of electrical conduit pipes. While climbing over the pipes, he fell and was injured, according to the suit.

Thomas J. Sargent has filed suit against Granite City Steel in connection with a Feb. 2 accident and is seeking in excess of $15,000 for his injuries.

Sargent contends he was employed by Andco, Inc., and was making repairs to a blast furnace when some bricks fell on him from an overhead brick hoist, injuring several parts of his body.

He alleges the brick hoist did not have safety rails and should not have been operated while there were workers under it.

Richard Douglas has filed a four-count suit against the steel firm and against Isom in connection with a Dec. 31, 1979, incident in which he allegedly fell from a ladder into a coke hopper at the coke plant.

Two of the counts, seeking in excess of $25,000 each, are against the steel firm and two identical counts are against Isom.

and her court will be honored at a public coronation ball scheduled at 8 p.m. Nov. 7 in the American Legion Post 199 Home, St. Louis Road, Edwardsville.

Barbara Downing, contest chairman, said any girl 13 years of age or older may enter the contest.

She must be single and must have a sponsor. Sponsors may be a social or service club, church group or any other type of organization.

Neither a sponsor nor a contestant is required to be CB affiliated, Mrs. Downing stressed.

The program is not a beauty contest, she said. The girl raising the most money for the March of Dimes will be crowned queen at the coronation ball.

Jewelry and wardrobe items will be among the gifts presented to the successful candidate.

Prospective contestants may secure an application and additional information by calling Mrs. Downing at 1-288-9362, or the March of Dimes at 1-692-0888. The entry fee is $10.

Tickets for the coronation ball, costing $3 per person, include dancing until midnight.

All proceeds will be donated to the Metro East Chapter of the March of Dimes.

In urging girls from the Quad-City area to enter the contest now, Mrs. Downing said a tea for the candidates and their parents is set for 2 p.m. Sept. 6 at Eden Village in Glen Carbon.

"This contest provides an opportunity for all girls to have fun and help a very worthy cause at the same time," the chairman stated.

GC family to host Malaysian students

The annual fall international student picnic will be held Sunday, Sept. 21, at the Faculty Club on the Edwardsville campus of Southern Illinois University.

The picnic is being sponsored by the International Hospitality Program (IHP), a group of host families that assists foreign students during their stay at SIUE.

One such host family is the family of John and Joyce Schrader, 5116 Maryville Road. They have been involved in the program for over 10 years.

"It's an opportunity to share and to learn about other cultures and races," commented Mrs. Schrader.

The Schraders will be hosts to two Malaysian students during their stay at SIUE.

The IHP is an all volunteer program designed to assist foreign students obtain housing and to make their stay as many activities as possible. Several family activities planned by the IHP are held each year.

According to Mrs. Schrader, the IHP provides an opportunity to reach out to people of other nations. "We have been enriched," she said.

IHP host families and anyone interested in broadening global perspectives are invited to attend the picnic, which will be held at 2 p.m. Sept. 21.

More information may be obtained by calling Elizabeth and John Bettmann at 692-2448 or Reba and Murrell Klenke at 656-5022.

An orientation was held last week for foreign students and host families. The program included a panel discussion.

The students from Malaysia will not arrive until about Sept. 10. About 30 new international students are expected this year.

Presently, there are over 300 foreign students on campus at SIUE.

to 'survive'

"Survival in the '80's" is the theme of Alumni College—a program for Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville Alumni and families to be inaugurated Sept. 13-14 at Pere Marquette State Park.

Sponsored by the SIUE Alumni Association with the cooperation of the university's Office of Continuing Education, Alumni College will feature four SIUE faculty members and Major Ewin Knezevich of the Madison County sheriff's office.

Anthony Traxler, psychology professor and director of the university's gerontology program, will open the two-day event on Saturday, Sept. 13, at 9:30 a.m. with a lecture entitled "Playing the Odds." His talk will help participants determine their longevity by evaluating their lifestyle and heredity.

At 10:30 a.m. Rasool Hashmi, associate professor of economics, will present guidelines for avoiding economic disaster.

From 1 to 3 p.m., Robert Williams, associate professor of elementary and early childhood education, will explain utilizing wild foods to enhance nutrition.

Also from 1 to 3 p.m., a workshop, "Preventing Victimization," will be presented by Major Knezevich, who will describe crime trends and possible methods of curtailment.

Following dinner, Ronald Glossop, philosophy professor, will talk about "Expanding Your Horizons," indicating how getting beyond one's own personal problems can make life more meaningful.

Holiday drivers should find gasoline plentiful

Motivists during the Labor Day weekend should have little trouble finding gasoline in Missouri, according to a survey taken by the Automobile Club of Missouri.

The survey shows that 78 percent of the stations polled will be open on Labor Day, which is an improvement from 65 percent one year ago.

The August fuel gauge survey conducted by the club shows gasoline prices and supplies have remained stable throughout the summer. Gas availability fluctuated only a few percentage points during June, July and August, according to the survey of 50 stations along major highways and interstates in Missouri and bordering states in Illinois and Kansas.

$950 SHED BURGLARY

A set of Hogan golf clubs valued at $300, a five-horsepower electric motor worth $600, and a Craftsman lawnmower worth $50, were taken in the burglary of a shed at Rich Oil Co., 1501 State St., reported Monday. Locked doors were forced open to gain entry to the shed.

Although average prices have remained about the same, there is still a wide high-low price range for all grades of gasoline. Prices for full service regular gas still range from $1.30 to $1.14 per gallon, and prices for regular unleaded vary from $1.18 to $1.35 ($1.21 to $1.34 last month).

Self-service prices also vary considerably from a

career changes

A new public service is available to adults seeking to change career fields, return to work or school, or advance in their present employment area.

The four-session program, "Careers in Transition," will be offered at two locations. Beginning Sept. 13 and extending through Oct. 4, the program is scheduled in Room 2405 of Peck Classroom Building on the SIUE campus from 9 until 11 a.m.

The program will also be offered at the SIUE Scott Air Force Base Resident Center Sept. 9, 16, 23 and 30. Sessions will meet in Room 22 of Building 3190 from 5:30 until 7:30 p.m.

Registration for the program at either location is $20. During the sessions, participants will have the opportunity to talk with professionals about careers in general.

They will have the chance to examine their own skills and abilities in relation to career options, and will also learn how an educational institution can help them in fulfilling their employment aspirations.

"Today, the average person can expect to change jobs five or six times during his or her work life. As a result, many people are returning to school to expand their present skills or to learn new ones," Donald Shandler, director of the SIUE Office of Continuing Education, said.

Reservations and additional information may be obtained by contacting that office at 682-3210.

APARTMENT LOOTED

A burglar obtained a radio and a $30 electric razor from Kenneth Jones' apartment at 1704 Cleveland Blvd. Saturday evening.

Juanita Rosenberg retires

Juanita Rosenberg was honored with a surprise dinner last week at Charlie's Restaurant in honor of her retirement from Glik's Department Stores after 25 years of employment.

Mrs. Rosenberg had been employed at both the Bellmore Village store and the Madison store at 217 Madison Ave.

The affair included a photographic trip down memory lane with the theme "This Is Your Life," hosted by Nell Talley. A pendant watch was presented to the honoree.

Mrs. Rosenberg now plans to travel and spend more time with her family.

Those present at the dinner included the honoree's husband Jerry, her son David, her daughter Phyllis Heneghan and her daughters-in-law, Melia and Rita Rosenberg, Mary Baumberger, Louella Bevil, Juanita Blankenship, Donna Corrie, Maxine Crabtree, Kathy Dohal, Leslie Dortch, Jane Duncan and Mary Firtos.

Camping adventure for Altar Boys and Boy Scouts

Troop 7 Scouts, St. Joseph's Catholic Church and St. Joseph's Altar Boys joined in a camping adventure at Mick's Lake, located in St. Jacobs, Ill., Aug. 17 to 21.

This camping adventure replaced a previously scheduled camping canoe trip. Scouts and Altar Boys were transported by: Ramona Schierling, Jeanne Brandon, Steve Kusmierczak and Karl Markovich.

Scout parents, Ramona Schierling and Jeanne Brandon, camped with the Scouts and Altar Boys, along with the scoutmaster, Hugh Jordan, father of a scout, visited Mick's Lake on Wednesday, Aug. 20, and was guest of Troop 8 dinner.

Mick's Lake donated a campsite to the troop. Troop 7 presented Mick's Lake with a certificate of appreciation. The Altar Society of St. Joseph's donated soda to Scouts for camping adventure.

Troop and patrol activities included fire making, identification of trees and plants, swimming, building of survival shelters, snake identification and making of campsite instruments; trash container, wash basin and towel rack.

Scout activities included boating, swimming and fishing. Swimming activities were performed under the buddy system. Scout Phil Kimbrel, caught 19 fish and Scout Edith Wofford, Sue Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Bartels, Gusie Hessman, Catherine and Celeste Johnson, Mary Stanfill and Fay Little.

LeRoy Stark, district training committee member, visited the troop on Monday to see the troop's new tents. Scouts performed campfire skits on Tuesday night and feasted on watermelon Wednesday evening.

Scouts undertook night hikes on all four nights at camp. One included a tracking hike in which scouts Phil Kimbrel and Richard Schierling, lost Troop 8 midway. Scouts listened to the many sounds of the outdoors during hikes.

Mick's Lake Camping Adventure was a mini-summer camp where scouts completed a number of requirements for skill awards and merit badges.

Thus far, Troop 7 has had 22 nights of camping in the current charter year, with four more nights of camping to come before charter year ends at end of October.

The next camping adventure is set for mid-September at Holy Family Seminary in Overland, Mo., where Troop 7 will go on a two-night camping adventure.

Steelers hope to match '79's golf record

By KEVIN ALLEN
of the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — Several things are missing from Granite City North's golf team this year — the young ladies who played in the past, last year's only sectional tournament qualifier, and several other graduated seniors.

Yet other things remain, the most important of which is the potential to live up to 1979's accomplishments.

According to Steeler coach Russ Chappell, possibly six of the 18 members of this year's golf squad has the ability to perform well enough to lead North to, second consecutive successful season.

Last year the Steelers finished with a 14-9 record. To do that again, Chappell said, scores of 160 to 164 will be needed.

"We expect better than that, but an average of around 40's will be good, enough to win some matches," Chappell said.

Although North lost its leading player of a year ago, Chris Andrews, (who qualified for the sectional tournament) as well as several other seniors, Chappell said adequate replacements are on hand. Among these are four returning lettermen, another senior back from last year, and a couple of juniors who return.

The lettermen are seniors Paul Eads, Jerry Coyle, Paul Miller, and junior Scott Enes.

"I personally feel all of them have the ability to help a lot," Chappell said.

Also back from last year are senior Bobby Meyer, and junior Pat Early. Chappell said he expects to receive help from both.

In addition to those players, though, the Steelers have a flock of other golfers from which to call upon.

Press-Record

Sports

men — Dave Warfield, Steve Crow, Kevin Schatz, Vic Fears, and Randy Coleman.

"We have some young people who have the chance to become very good golfers, but right now there kind of scrambling around for position," Chappell said.

The 18 golfers on the Steeler roster is fewer than in the past. One reason is that no girls came out for the sport as in years gone by. Last year, for example, North listed 22 players, as compared to 18 this year.

That shouldn't be as difficult a problem to overcome as lowering the numbers on the scorecards, though.

In the Steeler's first match of the year, Monday against Wood River, clearly, that potential Chappell is hoping to tap failed to materialize. The Steelers lost 160-170, and only one golfer — Eads — came in under 40. His 38 led North, which, in a losing effort turned in scores of 43 for Coyle, 44 for Miller and 45 for Enes.

Just as Chappell noted the winning Wood River score was in the magic 160-164 range.

"We'll have to improve that if we're going to win. And we've got an even tougher schedule than last year. Many of the teams we played last year were from smaller schools. This year we're going to face the Belleville schools, Edwardsville, people like that," Chappell said.

South golfers return much link experience

'We're decent, but we're no world-beaters...'

By KEVIN ALLEN
of the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — Boone Chaney, golf coach at Granite City South, thinks his team is maybe just one or two experienced players short of being hot stuff.

As it is, well, in his words, "We're decent, but no world-beaters."

The Warrior golfers will find out just how well that assessment holds up tomorrow when they visit Highland for their first match of the season.

Chaney figures, if nothing else, the nucleus of a respectable team is present. "We've got three players with a lot of experience back with us," he said, "and we've got others who have shown us something so far."

These three figure to play a big role in the Warriors' fate this year. They are seniors Todd Burns and Paul Zimmer, and junior Larry Holder.

Of the three, Holder figures to be the cornerstone. His average in the 30's is best on the team.

Then there's Ken Rapp, a sophomore who Chaney said was a pleasant surprise as a freshman.

After that, though, it's up for grabs.

"It's going to be a dog fight filling in the rest of the spots. Normally we go with eight players and take the four lowest scores," Chaney said.

The remaining four spots could be filled by the likes of senior Rich Sharp who also brings three years of experience to the squad. Or maybe Greg Garland, a senior out for golf for the first time.

Three juniors who also are on the team for first time are Jim Wickman, Rick Bieant, and Gary Brown. Chaney said all three could help.

Then, there are the sophomore prospects, Don Kalmeyer, Lance Parker and Mark Sigel. The latter two were out the latter part of last year.

Thurnan, John Misturak, Steve Akeman, Bill Russell, and Jeff Paer.

Chaney said he was especially pleased by the performances of the freshmen, particularly Paer who "is a recently in practice."

But the problem is an ageless one for any high school coach — not enough proven talent.

"You need at least six solid players," Chaney said. "You hope to get eight, because when you take the four lowest scores, you need to have people there who can pick up someone else who's having a bad day."

When the team is a combined score of somewhere around 160 to 170, there's little room for error. Fortunately for Chaney only two of last year's lettermen, Greg Mulach and Greg Paer, were lost to graduation last year.

Unfortunately, the Warriors failed to perform above the 500 mark in 1979. "We lost eight matches by one stroke, which, any way you look at it is unusual," Chaney said.

So for the Warriors to turn out a winner in 1980, the proven returnees will have to be consistently good, and the untied contenders for starting spots will have to come through.

Any way you look at it another seasoned player or two wouldn't hurt.

Jacobsmeier's places fourth in Midwest softball regional

the Press-Record

LEXINGTON, Ky. — The Granite City Jacobsmeier's women's softball team finished fourth Sunday in the annual Midwest Major Slow Pitch Softball Regional Tournament at Shillito Park in Lexington, Ky.

Jacobsmeier's lost the third place game Sunday night the 1979 Illinois State Champion team of Fred Back's from Hecker 6-5 in 12 innings. Jacobsmeier's outlived its opponents 15-14 in the wild affair.

Hecker held a 3-1 lead going into the top of the ninth inning. Jacobsmeier player Chris Speer singled in the inning. That hit was followed by a Cheryl Schofield homerun to tie the score 3-3. That's the way the score stood until the 10th inning when Granite's Speer again singled and teammate Debi Stein drove her home with a two-out double.

It looked more and more like a Granite City victory in the bottom of the inning. That is until Hecker's Marion Bell drove in the tying run with a two-out hit, this the 12th inning. Granite's Gina McFarland and Linda Spence combined to give Jacobsmeier's the lead again. Speer's hit was a sacrifice fly to drive in McFarland, giving her team a 5-4 lead.

But a two-out, two-run homerun by Hecker in the bottom of the 12th gave it the victory and third place in the regional.

In preliminary action, Jacobsmeier's had to fight back from the loser's bracket.

In the first game, Jacobsmeier's lost to Kentucky runnerup Cobras 8-6. The big blow came in a three-run sixth inning for the Kentucky team.

The next game saw Jacobsmeier's downing the Indiana state runnerup, Cobras 8-1. Carol Makarwicz had three hit for Jacobsmeier's and three RBI. Kathy Speer, Cheryl Schofield, Debi Stein and Stacy Horton had two hits each.

The Casuals of Louisville, Ky. were the next opponents for Jacobsmeier's. The Granite City team won 7-4, outlasting them 13-4. Makarwicz had four hits and Horton three singles.

four RBI.

The Tigers from Louisville were the next foes. Jacobsmeier's defeated the Louisville City Champions and 1978 Regional Champions 5-3. Speer cracked a homerun, Schofield a triple and Horton three singles.

PAUL MILLER of Granite City North is one of the Steelers golfers Coach Russ Chappell hopes can match the outstanding performance put on by last season's squad. The Steelers began their season earlier this week, while Granite City South starts Friday.

U.S. team looking forward to first World Cup test

NEW YORK — With the 8th CONCACAF Youth Championship now history and with the United States National Youth Team successful in its goal of qualifying for the World Youth Championship for The Coca-Cola Cup, National Coach Walt Chyzowich is looking ahead to the 1981 world tournament in Australia.

"We'll have an extensive training program for Australia. I'd like the team to play at least 20 exhibitions before then," said Chyzowich, the head coach for Youth, Olympic, and National teams. "I expect a nucleus of the present Youth Team to be with us again next year, but at the same time, I'm confident we'll improve the squad in some areas. We've got a great group to build from."

In qualifying for next October's world championships, where the U.S. will be among 16 elite national teams comprised of players born after Aug. 1, 1961, the American Under-19 squad's accomplishment was unprecedented. But in becoming the first U.S. Youth Team to reach the Final Round of 16, the host country had its hands full in the 18-nation CONCACAF (North, Central America, and the Caribbean) qualifying event.

Despite losing to Mexico (2-0), which won its seventh CONCACAF youth crown in eight attempts, in the final played at Giants Stadium (E. Rutherford, N.J.) Aug. 17, the U.S. assured itself of a berth in Australia by downing Honduras in the semifinals, played Aug. 15 at Robert F. Kennedy Stadium in Washington, D.C. In dramatic fashion, the U.S. nipped Honduras, 9-4, behind an 8-7 triumph in the penalty kick tie-breaker after the teams were deadlocked, 1-1, at the conclusion of regulation play and two, 18-minute overtime sessions.

The teams played to a scoreless tie in 80 minutes of regulation time. Midfielder John Stollmeyer, playing near his Annandale, Va. home, converted a penalty kick at 83:06 to put the U.S. ahead, but Honduras' Jorge Mendez scored with 4:10 remaining to knot the score and send the game into penalties, the tie-breaking procedure for international tournaments.

World Cup

Each team converted four of five during the first round of penalties. With the teams in a sudden death situation, Kevin Fouser, the ninth American to shoot, beat Honduras' goalkeeper Oscar Martinez. And with Honduras in a must-lose situation, a shot by Juan Contreras was deflected by goalkeeper Craig Scarpelli off the crossbar to give the U.S. the win.

The semifinal triumph, hailed by Chyzowich as "one of the greatest wins in our soccer history," sent the U.S. into the CONCACAF final two days later in Giants Stadium. The Americans, playing without injured starters Darryl Gee, Carl Bennett, and Stollmeyer, were out-classed by Mexico, who received goals from Rogelio Patino (17:48) and Alfonso Rodriguez (55:09).

In the quarterfinal vs. Bermuda at RPK Aug. 12, the U.S. was hard-pressed in recording a 2-1 triumph. Stollmeyer put the U.S. in front with a penalty kick (28:56) and Fouser added an insurance goal (52:10) to make it 2-0. Bermuda, which was outshot by a 27-7 margin, jumped back into the fray when Kenneth Burt scored at 74:29.

Goalkeeper Craig Scarpelli, who performed flawlessly in the Youth Team's clinching triumph over Honduras, was chosen the co-winner of the Outstanding Player Award for the semifinal round of the CONCACAF Youth Championship. In balloting conducted by the media

Althoff could be class of Gateway loop

By PETE HAYES
Of the Press-Record

Take it from someone who was there, the scene was, ah, interesting.

In the southwestern corner of the hall, at a small table sat five colorful figures. They were dressed variously — a knight, a couple of Indians, a steelworker, and a tiger. They were making a ruckus, but no one minded. Every table in the hall, as well as a few assorted birds, and wild animals who stalked around independently, were arguing — bickering might be a better word.

Each was convinced he was the best, and in turn each was arguing his case. This was, you see, the Annual Prisoner Convention for Football Mascots and Nicknames. You may have never heard of it. It's a private affair rarely covered by the press, but take it from me, I was there.

At the table in question a little placecard bore the words: Gateway East Conference.

The word conference could have referred to the organization or the discussion. The talk was, ah, spirited.

At the head of the table dressed in silks and and armor, a knightly Crusader held a shield on which the word Althoff was emblazoned in green and gold.

The knight was pumped up, full of glory and boast, telling the rest how his beloved Althoff Crusaders would repeat as conference champs. "Remember," he said,

"We made it to the semi-finals of the 4A tournament before we stopped. The knight repeated his boast adding statistics and figures for spite. "We return our entire corps of running backs — Keith Chambers, Don Schaefer, and especially... Here, Mike Laney."

Laney, the pompous Crusader reminded, a 6-foot, 190-pounder, rushed for 350 yards in three playoff games — 128 of those in a single game.

Football Preview

The knight reported that Althoff coach Glenn Schott thinks Laney "hasn't come close to his potential."

"Add that to Bob Totsch, our leading receiver, and Ken Blacharczyk our 6-1, 205-pound guard and linebacker, and the rest of you have trouble," the crusader said as he pounded his fist on the table.

There was a moment when all around the table the lively conversation stopped. Then gradually the snarling and shouting began again. A steelworker and an Indian, both from Granite City were busy bickering in a corner while the noise level in general grew.

I stood in a corner, amazed. Just then the Tiger, leashed with leather strap on which Edwardsville gleamed in black and orange, jumped on the table, and began to roar.

"We came this close last year," he said holding two claws within a hair of each other. "One game separated us from first place."

And on and on spouted the glory of the Edwardsville defense which allowed the opposition only 8.8 points per game last year. "With Scott Nelson back at noseguard, Dave Keyser at linebacker, and defensive back Brad Opel returning, we'll be almost purrrrrfect."

And the Tiger didn't forget the offensive unit. He talked about the three lettermen — Kevin Mosby, Morris White, and Kerry Booker — returning in the backfield, and how they'll work well along with two capable quarterback candidates, Brian Hammonds and Mike DeLeonardis.

Now the Granite City contingent was furious. Their sensibilities obviously had been damaged.

First to his feet was the Steelworker wearing a t-shirt with Granite City Steelers stenciled on front. "Wait a minute," he said. "Talk about offense you talk about the Steelers. We've a got big group of letterman back with us, and most of them are back with the offense."

He went on to enumerate. Quarterback Dan Patterson, along with a full house in the backfield — fullback Rick Buer, I-back Kevin Buchanan, and halfback Joe Dean.

"Then there's center Kevin DePew, tackles David Long and Tom Wyrostek, and tight ends Fat Muehl and Joe Bowler," the burly ironworker said.

He also talked about how many of those players — Patterson, Muehl, DePew, Dean — will fill in more than adequately on the other side of the field.

"I know exactly what you mean," the big Indian said. He was in full battle dress, obviously a Warrior. His war bonnet spelled out the words Granite City South.

"I really don't believe it," the Indian said, "but for once the muscleman and I are in complete agreement — when it comes down to it a strong offense is better than tough defense."

"And that's exactly what we've got at South." He explained about how the offensive backfield should spearhead the

Quad County race down to Dupo-Assumption

By TOM SHOCKER
Of the Press-Record

Confidence is a key ingredient in the making of a winning football team. Strong determination will have to encompass every squad in the Quad County Conference. The 1980 season might just prove to be a showdown.

ASSUMPTION — If you are looking for confidence, look no further than Assumption. If you are looking for a winning team, you're still at the right place. The Pioneers, under the direction of head coach Jim Monken, recorded a perfect 5-0 mark in conference play last season and went as far as the semi-finals in the 2A State Playoffs before bowing out.

According to Monken, a repeat performance as conference champions is a distinct possibility. "We have a lot to live up to," said Monken, "but we plan to repeat again. We had a tough team last year and this season we could be just as good."

For the Pioneers to live up to Monken's expectations, they will have to control the number of injuries throughout the year. "We will have a depth problem," said Monken. "Barring injuries, we will be just as good as last season. We have good running backs and a big front line. I also think I have found a stable quarterback."

However the key to Assumption's success will be its defense which led the area in interceptions in 1979. "Our defense will be extremely good with our overall speed," said Monken. "They always seem to get the ball back for us. If we get the lucky breaks and stay on top of the other teams, we'll be all right. It's going to be very interesting."

Getting that covenant title again might not be as easy as Monken believes. "The Quad County is getting tighter," said Monken. "I think all the games on our schedule will give us trouble. We play Beardstown, which is a good team, in our first game and then Triad. They are a much larger school and have a lot of players returning. The first two games will be a good indicator as to how successful we will be. But I strongly believe we will win the conference again."

FREEBURG — With the concern about putting together a winning team, Freeburg's head coach Mike Siemer is more worried about just putting a team together. "We don't have many members," said Siemer. "There will be a good number of people playing offense and defense. I thought we would have had more members out after our 5-4 season last year."

Siemer was fortunate to return three-quarters of his backfield which are three year starters. "The place we are really going to be green is in the offensive line," said Siemer. "We need to find some linebacks and secondary backs also. I only have eight sophomores. I had hope to find a diamond in the rough, but I haven't found that diamond yet."

A lack of personnel might prove to be costly for Siemer with a schedule that includes defending conference champs Assumption and Triad. "Our toughest game outside the conference will have to be Triad," said Siemer. "In the conference, Assumption is the head and shoulders above the rest. After that, it looks like a mad scramble. I think it will be a somewhat down year in the conference. All the teams do not seem to have much depth and it will depend on how the sophomores and juniors work."

For Freeburg, the question will be how healthy can the Midets stay. "If we are free from injuries, we'll do all right," said Siemer, "but with seven guys going both ways, one or two injuries could have a domino effect."

COLUMBIA — The Assumption Pioneers is not the only team that feels it will take the Quad County Conference crown. Just ask Columbia head coach Charles Wuertell. "I think we have a shot at it," said Wuertell. "We are young, but experienced. I'm still looking to fill a couple of spots, but we have an experienced offensive line and opening up our offense will boost our point average. I look to score 30 or more points a game on the average." This compares with the Eagles 20 point average output of a year ago.

But it will be the Eagles defense carrying them through much of the season. "We will be strong on defense," said Wuertell. "These kids really like playing it. And with the schedule Columbia has, its defense will surely be put to the test."

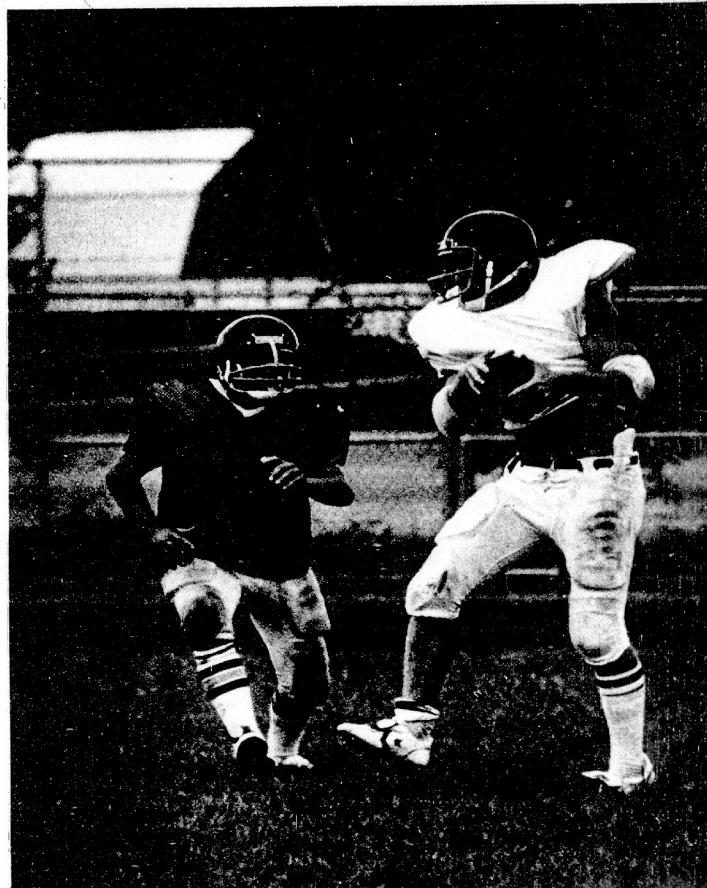

"We keep playing the same team," said Wuertell, "but we did pick up one new opponent in Staunton. We play them on the second weekend of the season. They will give us a good test as to where we will stand this year."

As far as the conference will go, Wuertell gave due respect to Dupo and Assumption as contenders. "The Pioneers will be the favorites," said Wuertell, "but there are a lot of possibilities. In fact, I see our conference champions being 4-1. There is a much better balance among the teams in the Quad County. I look to have a good season and I think it's Columbia's turn this year."

DUPO — When you look for a winning team, you might look at Assumption. But when you look for a winning tradition, you have to think of Dupo. A tradition started by Jerry Germain will have to be enhanced by the Tigers new head coach Gary Mauser.

In taking over Germain's top spot, Mauser brings with him an impressive mark in his own right. As an assistant coach at Chester High School, the team posted a 16-2 record in the two years he was with them.

STEELER PRACTICE. These two Granite City North football players have the same thing on their minds — making the team. North, as well as teams throughout the Gateway East Conference and the state began practicing Aug. 13 and now await their first games of the season, the weekend of Sept. 5-6.

MISL elects new officers

Sportshorts

ST. LOUIS — The Major Indoor Soccer League directors established October 27 as the date for the 1980 college player draft at the board of directors meeting in Chicago on Tuesday. The draft is two weeks earlier than it had been for the 1979 draft.

Dr. Joseph Machnik, newly named MISL director of operations and a well-known college soccer coach, will coordinate the draft proceedings. Machnik noted, "With the start of the MISL's 1980-81 season beginning earlier than it has been in its three year history, the draft was pushed forward so that the teams could utilize some of the American players during the 1980-81 campaign." The MISL season begins on November 7, 1980.

Earl Foreman, commissioner of the MISL stated, "The American college player draft and its timing is of great significance to the MISL. It shows the continued effort on our part to bring the finest young American players into the indoor game." Foreman added that coaches from each of the twelve MISL clubs will congregate at MISL headquarters in Philadelphia for the selection process.

Machnik announced that he is in the final phase of structuring the league's expanded 1980-81 schedule and that the schedule will be completed by September 1. Each of the dozen MISL teams will play 20 home games and 20 away games over the 1979-80 season.

The directors also discussed future MISL expansion. Chicago, Kansas City and Los Angeles were all mentioned as possible sites for MISL franchises.

Women's meeting

GRANITE CITY — There will be an organizational meeting for all managers wishing to participate in the Granite City Park District Women's Soccer program, at 7 p.m. on Thursday, Sept. 4 in the Wilson Park Office.

The organizational meeting will cover team registration, rules, scheduling and any other important subjects. The entry fee for this year is $85 per team plus $15 apiece for non-residents.

Fast-pitch meet set

GRANITE CITY — The eleventh annual Granite City fast pitch softball tournament will be held Sept. 6 through 11 at Wilson Park.

The entry fee will be $60 per team for the double-elimination affair. The entry deadline is Aug. 29. Any inquiries about the tournament should be made to Tournament Director George Cooke at 877-3100.

There will be four games on Aug. 6 and 7, two games on Aug. 8 and 9 and one game on Aug. 10. If necessary, there will be two games on Aug. 11.

When the goal is a combined score of somewhere around 160 to 170, there's little room for error.

Fortunately for Chaney only two of last year's lettermen, Greg Mulach and Greg Paer, were lost to graduation last year. Unfortunately, the Warriors failed to perform above the .500 mark in 1979.

"We lost eight matches by one stroke, which, any way you look at it is unusual," Chaney said.

So for the Warriors to turn out a winner in 1980, the proven returnees will have to be consistently good, and the untied contenders for starting spots will have to come through.

covering the Aug. 15 game in Robert F. Kennedy Stadium in Washington, Scarpelli and Mexican forward Alfonso Rodriguez finished in a tie with 31 points (points were assigned on a 3-2-1 scale by each media representative). Scarpelli, a Brick, N.J. native, and Rodriguez were presented trophies immediately following the game by Mr. James Harford, representing the local bottlers of Coca-Cola in the Washington, D.C. area. The goalie recorded 11 saves and was a major factor in the penalty kick tiebreaker that clinched a berth in the 1981 IFA World Youth Championship for The Coca-Cola Cup. Scarpelli, who attends the University of Tampa, posted five wins in six starts and allowed four goals for a 0.66 average during the Aug. 1-17 tournament. Rodriguez, a diminutive 5-3, 127-pounder, scored a goal in Mexico's 2-0 win over the U.S. in the CONCACAF finale. In addition to the Outstanding Player Award for the semifinals, Coca-Cola also presented the Cham-

Warrior team, what with Mark Clark, Mike Medina, and Mark Marsh, the entire South backfield returning. That should make up for the inexperience going at offensive line and in the defensive squad, the painted Warrior said.

"Anyway, with record of 5-3 last year, we were second best in the conference."

Finally, I thought things had settled down. I thought the crowing and boasting and breast-beating were done.

But just then, all eyes turned to where another Indian, a smaller one, was sitting quietly. Boldly, the Crusader pointed a accusing finger.

"Well, out with it. What have you got?"

rose, and despite his tattered buckskin, he spoke. "I know we were down last year," the Indian said. His war paint had faded. His headband was threadbare, and the words Cahokia Comanches were barely visible.

"After an 0-8 season, though, the only way to go is up. We got ourselves a new coach, Larry Taylor, and despite what some may think, we do have our assets."

He spoke of course, of all-conference running back Wilbur Washington, but pressed to produce more evidence he admitted his inability.

"We lost our best lineman, 6-3½, 240-pound Keith Cruise to knee surgery. And we only have five other seniors out," he said forlornly.

"But we do have one thing in our favor," coach Taylor. He was assistant for 14 years, so he knows the players and the school. He says, "I want the kids to have a good time and win a few games, hopefully."

Then he sat down. Everyone was quiet.

Later on, I heard someone comment about how they were moved with the Indian's little speech.

"We all know we brag a lot, but when it comes down to the truth, the number of games won doesn't mean as much as other things. This whole crazy thing called high school football is for the kids, both on the field and in the stands.

That's what should be stressed, even if sometimes people forget."

That impressed me a lot — coming from a bird. And I agree.

And I should know, because I was there

Old bridge used for filming 'Escape'

PEOPLE

Press-Record Photos by Pat Foley

"Watch out!" shouts a lighting technician. A heavy spotlight housing falls to the bridge deck below as other crew members in the vicinity move to avoid it.

A crew of more than 60 battles heat and humidity and fights off mosquitoes and other numerous insects as it prepares the west end of a local bridge for the filming of the final scenes of "Escape from New York," a movie about New York City in 1997 which has been turned into a prison for more than 3,000,000 inmates.

The old Chain of Rocks Bridge, owned by the city of Madison and left abandoned for more than a decade since the construction of the I-270 span across the Mississippi River, had been given a new "lease on life," at least for the past several weeks anyway.

Siam Dunk Productions, a subsidiary of AVCO Embassy Films, came to the St. Louis area to film portions of "Escape" the stars of which include Ernest Borgnine, Kurt Russell, Isaac Hayes, Adrienne Barbeau and Donald Pleasence.

In the film, a huge wall surrounds the city which keeps the inmates inside and all others out. Air Force One, the president's plane, is sabotaged and crash-lands within the wall, but the president, played by Pleasence, survives and is taken hostage by the inmates.

The president is rescued from the hostages, but he and his rescuers must surmount the wall to regain their freedom. The bridge in the film is an nonexistent bridge which leaves New York City, but is contained by the wall.

The "wall," photo at right, was built on the west end of the old Chain of Rocks Bridge and took a month to construct. It was made under the watchful eye of Joe Alves, creator of the large "crater" which surrounded the huge spaceship in the final scenes of "Close Encounters."

Alves was also involved in the filming of "Jaws II."

Of course, as in most films, stunt men are being used. In the photo at top left a stunt man for Kurt Russell, at right, talks to a technician near the "wall" as lighting and sound work on the set.

Old, wrecked autos and other debris clutter the bridge deck near the west end through which the characters of the movie will run through in their fleeing escape from the city.

The director of the film is John Carpenter, at left, takes a smoke break while the set is readied by technicians for the next scene's filming.

After more than a month of preparation and four days of filming on the bridge, which included a scene shot on the east end of the bridge, the film company will again leave the old Chain of Rocks Bridge abandoned only to wait for someone else to find a use for it.

Movie-goers, of course, will have to wait until the release of the film to find out if the president and his rescuers make it over the "wall."

Hope to use civilian hospitals if military sustains casualties

Representatives of the Department of Defense and health care leaders conducted a briefing yesterday to explain the Civilian Military Contingency Hospital System which will be tested for the first time in the St. Louis metropolitan area.

This system is being designed to provide access to civilian hospitals for military casualties in the event of an overseas conflict. The briefing took place at the Marriott Pavilion Hotel. Hospitals of 150 beds or more located within a 50-mile radius of Scott Air Force Base are being asked to participate in the plan for caring for military casualties in the event of a conflict.

Organization of the new voluntary system, termed Civilian Military Contingency Hospital System (CMCHS), will begin next month, when area hospital executives, trustees representatives, and medical staff officers are invited to attend meetings with military leaders to hear more details of the plan, which has been endorsed by the American Hospital Association and the American Medical Association.

Because of its central geographic location and the military status of Scott Air Force Base, this metropolitan area has been chosen as the initial test site for the concept, according to AHA Region 3 Director James T. Doherty, who has been placed on loan to the Department of Defense to direct the program.

Specifics of the plan and time schedules for implementation meetings will be released when they are made available by the Pentagon.

Meanwhile, the following summary statement has been released:

"The United States has engaged in four armed conflicts abroad. These conflicts generated various levels of needs for medical services in support of United States military forces."

"In times of conflict, there was time for a buildup so that the peacetime military support system could be expanded to meet the emergency needs."

"Future conflicts may not permit such a mobilization process. In a fast-moving wartime scenario, the conflict may be resolved before full mobilization can occur."

"This quickened pace may not provide the time necessary to build the required military medical support base to care for all of the casualties returning during the early stage of the conflict."

"Several possible solutions were examined. The present military system could be enlarged to meet the expected need, but this would be extremely expensive and wasteful of both dollars and expertise."

"Even a 'mothballed' medical system would require a great initial investment, constant monitoring, and periodic extensive replacement of equipment and supplies."

"Attention thus has shifted to the civilian sector."

"One such option is to simply trust common sense, patriotism, and national reaction to a great need to make civilian sector assistance available in an emergency."

"However, a much better alternative is to construct a system in peacetime which can tap the potential of the civilian sector, preferable without curtailing its activities."

"If certain civilian sector hospital beds, facilities and manpower can be assured, Defense medical planners will have a base from which to estimate any additional requirement of facilities and manpower."

"The Office of the Assistant Secretary of Defense for Health Affairs sponsored a study of the feasibility of using civilian hospitals. It concluded that it would be possible to obtain the needed support from the civilian sector if certain assumptions were made."

"The major assumptions included a short, limited war with no attack on the United States, and making only a portion of the medical manpower and facilities of any single civilian hospital available for Department of Defense use."

"Defining the configuration and linking system for hospitals was the central issue in the development of the system."

"Recognizing that a military casualty in a civilian hospital will present unusual health care and administrative situations, a system was designed so that civilian hospitals in a specified geographical area are linked to a designated military hospital."

"These military hospitals would assist civilian hospitals in the development of plan, education and training of personnel, peacetime exercises of the program, and, if the system is implemented in the administration of casualties in a wartime situation."

"CMCHS has the backing of the American Hospital Association and the American Medical Association. The Department of Defense will be working closely with both of these associations as well as other groups — Department of Health and Human Services, state and local health organizations and provider groups, and the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals, to name a few."

"The final objective is to develop a system of care in the United States involving the use of civilian hospitals and their delivery capabilities."

"This system will require a large number of beds with a built-in flexibility for

Burglary nets stamps, cash

A burglary at the home of Elaine Lance, 3205 Kirkpatrick Homes, reported by James Lance at 3:20 p.m. Monday, netted the thief several pieces of jewelry, $50 worth of food stamps, three bottles of perfume, a camera, various items of clothing and $100 cash.

Lance said the burglary occurred during the weekend, apparently when the front door was left open for a period of time, by a young family member. Most of the items were not discovered missing until Sunday night, Lance said.

growth as the need exists. "Over the next two years, the office of the CMCHS will be contacting civilian hospitals throughout the U.S. and requesting their voluntary participation in this program."

DRIVER CHARGED

Thomas J. Scott, 57, of 40 Shirlwin Drive, was arrested at 10:40 p.m. Thursday for allegedly failing to report a traffic accident occurring at 21st and Adams streets. A hearing is set for Sept. 26.

ORDINANCE NO. 3717
DESIGNATING A YIELD INTERSECTION BE IT ORDAINED BY THE CITY COUNCIL OF
THE CITY OF GRANITE CITY, ILLINOIS, AS FOLLOWS:
SECTION 1: That the intersection of Keith Drive and Mockingbird Lane be designated a yield intersection wherein the Westbound traffic on Keith Drive be required to yield to Northbound traffic on Mockingbird
Lane at its intersection with Keith Drive.

SECTION 2: That the Superintendent of Streets is hereby authorized and directed to erect a suitable traffic control sign on the Eastern corner of Keith Drive at said intersection of Keith Drive and Mockingbird Lane in conformity herewith.

SECTION 3: That it is hereby declared unlawful for any person, firm, or employee thereof, to drive or operate any vehicle over and across the point specified without first yielding to the traffic on Mockingbird Lane until said vehicle is free and clear of pedestrian traffic or other vehicular traffic.

SECTION 4: Any person, firm, or corporation, or employee thereof, who shall violate any of the terms or provisions of this Ordinance shall, upon conviction, be fined not less than Ten Dollars ($10.00) nor more than One Hundred Dollars
($100.00) for each offense.

SECTION 5: That all ordinances and parts of ordinances in conflict herewith are hereby repealed.

SECTION 6: This Ordinance shall take effect and be in full force and effect from and after its passage, approval and due publication.

STATE OF ILLINOIS

REQUEST FOR RELEASE OF FUNDS

TO WHOM IT MAY CON-CERN:

Public notice is hereby announced that selected projects incorporated as part of the Madison County Community Development Block Grant Program will be submitted for certification to the Department of Housing and Urban Development on September 15, 1980, for grant of funds under Title I.

Chouteau Township — Sewer Tap-Offs.

City of Vandalia — N.S.A.
Senior Citizen Assistance,
Rehabilitation of Private Properties, Street Improvements.

Cloverleaf — N.S.A. Street Improvements, Neighborhood Park and Playground.

West Granite-Old Town —
N.S.A. Construction of R.R.
Overpass.

Madison County — Removal of Architectural Barriers.

Activities: Rehabilitation of Private Properties, Public Housing Modernization.

An environmental review of the above projects for which funds are sought has been prepared. These may be examined by the public and copies obtained at the Community Development Office, 130 Hillsboro Avenue, Edwardsville, Illinois.

Madison County will undertake the project
Grant funds from the U.S.
Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD), under Title I of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974. Madison County is certifying to HUD that Madison County and Nelson Hagnauer, in his official capacity as Chairman of Madison County, consents to accept the jurisdiction of the Federal Courts if an action is brought to enforce provisions of this certification. The legal effect of the certification is that upon its approval, Madison County may use the Block Grant funds and HUD funds within 6 months from date of issuance of letters; and any claim not so filed is barred to the estate inventoried within that period. Also, copies of claims must be mailed or delivered to the executor and to the Clerk of the Circuit Court of Madison County, Illinois, on or before the 15th day of September, 1980, at which time the certification was not in fact executed by the chief executive officer of the applicant, or (b) the ap-plicant's environmental review record for the project indicates omission of a required finding, or (c) the applicant is unable to provide the environmental review process. Objections must be prepared and submitted in accordance with the required procedure (24 CFR Part 58), and may be addressed to HUD at 1 North Dearborn, Chicago, Illinois.
Objections to the release of funds on bases other than those stated above will not be considered by HUD. No objection received by the September 5, 1980 will be considered by HUD.

At 9:15 a.m. on the petition of Robert J. Rocha, et al.,
Occupant of mobile home and purchaser, requesting a Special Use Permit as per Article II Section 20.5 and Subsection 20.5.10 of the Madison County Zoning Ordinance, 1975, in order to place a mobile home on this property, the Madison County Zoning Board of Appeals has held a public hearing on the petition. This is located in the R-4 Single Family Residence
District in Nameoki Township. This is the intersection of Collinsville Avenue and Central Avenue in the Cloverleaf Addition.

South goes after fifth title

Warriors in a word: Loaded

By PETE HAYES
Of the Press-Record

There he stood. Looking something less than legendary. Red coaching shorts. Red knit shirt. White knee socks. Wind blowing his thinning hair. Sun-screen on his face to protect it from the bright sun.

But he's a legend all right. The winningest high school soccer coach in Illinois. Year in and year out the experts say he can't do it again. But he does.

For four straight seasons, the Illinois state champion at the end of the campaign was the same. Sure, different players, different styles. But the same coach.

Gene Baker. Granite City South soccer coach.

A product of soccer-rich St. Louis, Baker was a standout basketball player in high school and went to Rockhurst College in Kansas City on a basketball scholarship, but wound up finishing his college days as a soccer player on Bob Guelker's undefeated NCAA National Championship team.

Now Baker is known more for his coaching abilities than his playing, even though he still keeps in shape by playing whenever possible. But his main love is coaching.

Where does he go from here? He's already the dean of Illinois high school coaches. Why doesn't he move on to a college job? "I really like it here," he said. "It's more of a challenge to try and keep a good program on the high school level than on the college. Because the players are coming and into and leaving the program all the time."

Baker and his Granite City South Warriors began their state championship reign in 1976. They continued it in 1977, 1978 and 1979. What about 1980?

The Warriors have lost some key people from last season's state championship team. Jack Burnett, Tony Pierce, Phil Beljanski, Jeff Tinsley and more. But then, it seems South always loses a lot of key people from last season's state championship team. And they're replaced by new key people on this year's state championship team.

That could well be the case this season. Put as simply as possible, the Warriors are loaded.

Returning is All-American David Fernandez. The talented player has grown up in the Warrior program. As a freshman starter, he played on the state championship team of 1977. He also played as a sophomore on the state championship team of 1978. And last year. But he's not the only one.

Also back are such key performers as Greg White,

David Paz, Lloyd Sharp, Richie Moore.

And Robbie Mann. Mann, an all-stater for Collinsville last season, jumped ship this summer and enrolled at South for his senior year. His addition can do nothing but help the Warriors.

"Robbie's a quality player, no doubt about it," said Baker. "He'll fit into the system well."

"Plus, he's a compatible person. Many of his friends are from Granite anyway. He's inquisitive and intelligent."

The captains for this year's South team are Fernandez, White and Paz. White is a junior and Paz is a sophomore. "We believe in underclassman captains," said Baker. "It gives them the experience they need later in their careers. They lead drills and are sort of a liaison between the coaches and the players. At first, they're kind of shy about being too vocal about it, but by the time they're seniors, they know how to handle themselves."

One reason for the Warriors' success can be put in one word: numbers.

Earlier this month when practice began, Baker and his assistant coach, Mel Bunting had around 70 prospective players turn out. They are now at around 50. "We've had to cut around 20 players," said Baker. "We just don't have enough coaches to go around. As it is, there's a coach-player ratio of two-to-25."

One of the most glaring holes left open by graduation is at the goalie position. Gone is All-American Pierce to the University of Connecticut. "We've got six guys out for goalie and we'll probably keep all six," said Baker.

Briggs hopes Trojans ready to make mark

By TOM SHOCKER
Of the Press-Record

When you think of soccer in this area, what normally pops into your mind? Five-time state champion Granite City South or Granite North will almost always be the center of conversation. But there is another school which is trying to put in a few good words.

Madison High School may only be a small school compared to the Granite sisters, but its attitude and determination ranks up with them stride for stride. "No matter what we have done in the past," said head coach Gene Briggs, "the attitude this year is a winning one. I just hope it pays off."

Briggs will be in his fourth year as head coach of the Trojan kickers, which also marks the fourth season for soccer at Madison. "I've got guys who are seniors that started with the program," said Briggs. "In that regard I'm hopeful for a good year. Actually I was hoping for more seniors, but some were sidetracked into other areas. I've got seven seniors, in which I'm counting on six starting. I could have had as many as 11. I've got the main ones, though. They will be nucleus, the ones I'm counting on."

However, Briggs must find the right individuals to fill the gaps in the squad. Doing this is a lot harder than it seems. "It's really too early to tell," said Briggs. "We are only in our first days of school and we have had about a week to work out. We had up to 22 kids for the preseason. That type of turnout is excellent for this area. I would like another week to see how my good players pan out. But I must say, we have quite a few stand outs. I don't want to put any hopes on one or two certain players. We'll just go with what we got and see what happens."

Cutting through a tough 22 game schedule including 14 conference games will be enough to show Briggs what kind of squad he has. "The conference is extremely important," said Briggs. "I hope to do well in the conference. I have what I can say is a tough schedule. I want to win them all and I feel responsible to the seniors that their season is a good one."

Compared with last years performance, Briggs believes that his Trojans are 100 percent better than in 1979. You can just feel the determination in everything Briggs has to say. "The seniors are really in to it," said Briggs. "We have never gotten down and I don't think they like going and doing something for four years and come up empty handed."

SWC soccer suffering

The Southwestern Conference is something to watch during the football and basketball seasons. Every year the powers battle it out for the title, and usually at least one is a state contender.

But when it comes to soccer, the same punch just isn't there.

THE NEWEST conference — the Gateway East, formed last year — drew away Edwardsville and Cahokia from the SW Conference. That leaves just four schools left to fight for the title: Collinsville, Belleville East, Belleville West and Alton. East St. Louis dropped its soccer program in 1978 for lack of interest.

Cahokia was always one of the top contenders with Collinsville. With that rivalry gone, however, the challenge isn't quite the same, although the two Belleville schools are improving every year and Alton looks extremely strong.

The Kahoks look to be the team to beat in the conference, having won the SWC title last year with an overall record of 17-6-2. But Kahok coach Jim Stranz warns that Alton is going to be something to deal with in this area.

"THEY'VE GOT nine starters back, and I look for them to be right up there with the best teams," Stranz said of Alton.

Because only four teams are in the Southwestern Conference, Stranz prefers to look at the competition in the area as a whole. "There's no question (Granite City) South will be the team to beat again" Stranz said. "But North has lost so many guys I don't know about them."

He rated South first, followed by Alton, North, Belleville East and Belleville West. "You can throw us in anywhere," Stranz said.

Many shoes to fill at North

By KEVIN ALLEN
Of the Press-Record

They were the kind of players who keep many of their teammates sitting on the bench. The front line of the 1979 Granite City North soccer Steelers was just loaded with talent.

Pity those second-stringers, the younger players who waited patiently on the bench watching the front line guys. At least they saw good soccer.

You remember the names — John Kafalas, Dan Fitzgerald, Bob Batey, Mike Robertson, Glenn Edwards, Tracy Hickam. They kept North at the top of the pack all season long. Only now they're gone.

In all, the Steelers lost nine starters from last year's team, and in 1980, all those younger players who waited their turn patiently on the bench last year will finally get to put their soccer cleats where their teammates' were.

For, Bob Kehoe, the man who guided last year's heroes, and who will guide this year's hopefuls, it's starting-over time.

"Yeah, I think you could definitely call this a rebuilding year," said Kehoe, the long-time Steeler coach. "We have the players to replace all the guys we lost, but the mere fact we have the players doesn't mean we'll be successful."

The key question, of course, is quality. Can the youngsters live up to the lofty legacy they have inherited?

"I don't know," Kehoe said. "Maybe we just got spoiled by a fairly strong team last year."

Senior Craig Burkey and junior Brian Pickens are back. Both were in the backfield during much of the '79 season.

Also returning is sophomore Steve Trittschuh, who replaced Burkey when an injury sidelined him near the end of the season.

Although he's only a sophomore, Kehoe said Trittschuh has been one of the most impressive players in the Steeler's pre-season drills.

Some say the talented back was as impressive as a freshman as the graduated Batey was.

Aside from those three proven quantities, however, North is a bundle of question marks.

While some players have been tentatively penciled in at spots, Kehoe said nothing is certain at this point.

At midfield, for example, Kehoe said senior Robert Szeles will likely find a position. "He's been with us a couple of years," Kehoe said, "but he's always been a little small. He hasn't grown much, but he'll see some playing time."

Junior Eric Maas will also try to pick up some of the slack left by the departure of last year's crop of midfielders.

Another junior, Paul Barrington, will work as a forward.

Beyond that, the positions are there for the taking. Kehoe hopes someone will avail himself of the openings.

"This happens every so often," Kehoe said. "You develop a group of players when they're young, and go along with them for a few years until they graduate, then you have to start rebuilding again."

"It's a cyclical kind of thing."

Now the cycle has come full around again, and the kind of habitual success folks at North have become accustomed to may have to be delayed a while.

"These guys have to become use to playing as a team, and as small units within that team," Kehoe said. "Soccer isn't an individual kind of game."

Curiously, although the North roster includes a number of upperclassmen, the Steelers will most likely adopt a definite freshman-sophomore image.

"Right now, we have a lot young, individual talent, but how quickly we can mold that into a team is another question."

Kehoe hopes players and fans alike have enough patients to weather what could be a rather rocky start.

As time goes by, though, Kehoe thinks things will come together.

By the end of the year, we'll definitely be a better unit," Kehoe said. "I guess you know how I feel about the season. We try to win as many games as we can during the regular season, but if we lose a few along the way it's really not that important."

"What really matters is how you come out of the tournaments after the regular season. Last year, for instance, we won over 20 games and were eliminated in the sub-sectionals."

"On the other hand, you could lose 20 and end up a state champ. And that's really what's important."

So if North has a slow start, remember, you've been warned. With teams such as Quincy, Cahokia, and Granite City South among the Steeler's first five opponents, the going will be tough.

"We may be in trouble," Kehoe said. "We'll just have to wait and see what happens."

Tom Wyrostek hopes the mix is right. He hopes the players returning from Granite City North and players yet to be added can gel into a winning football team.

For North, though, something of a war is being waged. After a season two years ago, the Steelers bounced back to a winning team in 1979.

So in 1980, Wyrostek's team will either continue to improve or take a step backwards. Wyrostek, of course, hopes the latter will happen.

"We weren't too pleased with our year," Wyrostek said. "We started pretty good, but toward the end of the season, injuries and some breaks kind of broke our momentum. So in this game is momentum."

Whether last year's start will be improved

Kahok soccer: Eight gone, eight ready to go

By RICK WELLE
Of The Herald

It's the same old story year after year. Granite City South is the team to beat. After all, the Warriors have won four consecutive state soccer championships.

And again this year Collinsville is going to be right behind. Despite losing eight regulars from last season, the Kahoks plan on giving South a run for its money in its bid for a fifth straight title.

Coach Jim Stranz has a big job in rebuilding the starting lineup. He lost Joe O'Donnell and Boyd Hess, both solid midfielders for last year's squad that finished 17-6-2. "Those are the two that hurt," Stranz said. In addition he lost fullbacks Matt Massa and Scott Geaschel, goalie Bob Belobraydic, Jim Heyden and Mike Bartsch.

And, oh yes, the eighth player lost from last year is striker Robbie Mann. Mann will be using his talents at (you know where) GC South after transferring there this year.

But Stranz is still optimistic about this year. And the biggest reason for his optimism is senior goalie Jim Dalla Riva. "Our strongest point is probably our goaltending," Stranz said modestly.

Dalla Riva split goaltending duties with the bigger Belobraydic the last two years. But now he's No. 1 for the Kahoks, and may just be the best goalie in the area. "He plays with a certain flair," Stranz said at a recent practice as he watched Dalla Riva frustrate teammates in a little scrimmage. "And I think it kind of picks up the other players."

A goalie, however, does not make an entire team.

"The key could be our quickness and speed up front," Stranz said. Enter Todd Sachtleben, Billy Lane and Bobby Tejada. Sachtleben led the Kahoks in assists and worked well with Lane as regulars last year. Tejada is small, but Stranz "greased lightning" will probably earn a starting spot this year.

Senior Matt Prsha is the only other starter left from last year. His experience will be needed at fullback. "I'm not real sure on the fullback situation," Stranz said. "We plain don't have the numbers at that position. The depth there is not strong." John Ansley also has a shot at fullback this year.

Stranz said he's going with Jerry Modglin as sweeperback. "It's a crucial position, but I think he can handle it. He played quite a bit last year, and I think he'll come through," Stranz said.

"The center halfback is probably the key to the team," Stranz said. "Matt Massa will be in that position. He'll be what I would call a schemer, setting up the plays. He's the field general, the quarterback of a soccer team. If he comes through..."

Joining Massa at halfback will be Jay Hook and Penny Dorn. Rounding out the probable starting 11 is John Ambrosius at stopper back.

"We don't know about our depth," Stranz said. Dave Holloman, a fullback/halfback, Brian Reisingers, a striker, and Randy Jackson, a halfback, are the first three substitutes, none of whom have much varsity experience.

Stranz is high, however, on backup goalie Ben Birch. But with Dalla Riva in the nets, the junior doesn't stand much of a chance to see much playing time — especially with this year's schedule.

"We have got a schedule this year," Stranz said. "I can say, with one possible weak sister — and I'm not sure about that Assumption — there's not a breather on the schedule." Besides Granite North and South and Alton, the Kahoks also run up against Missouri powerhouse Acquinas, Vianney and CBC.

"We have not had the great individual player — a physical specimen with the great skills to play — but we always have a good club. I have guarded optimism, but I have to be realistic," Stranz said.

"We've got a couple of scrappers and crusty players this year," Stranz said. "And I think it's going to carry us."

Plenty of practice

Practice is a word that high school athletes are hearing lots of these days.

Schools in the Granite City and Collinsville area just finished two-a-day practices, but the teams are still going through one rigorous session to prepare themselves for the sport seasons which begin this week for soccer and next week for football.

In photos, from top clockwise ...

A new sport for Triad

By MARGARET ADES
Of The Herald

Steve Garland sipped from his glass of water as he waited for his breakfast order to come to the table. He drank slowly, thinking about his future and the future of Triad High School's new soccer program. Garland is the head coach.

"I'm going to go with experimentation this year," the 23-year-old Garland said as he put his glass back on the table. "We're going to be very flexible."

Sitting in a restaurant in Granite City, his home town, Garland discussed the upcoming Triad season which opens in Roxana Sept. 9. The team, playing at the junior varsity level for nine games in its first year, will have its home opener Sept. 30 against O'Fallon.

Garland's team is youthful. In fact, of the 18 youths who have participated in practice sessions, only six are upperclassmen.

"AS YOUNG as they are, I don't expect them to win them all," Garland said as he reached for his breakfast. "The big thing is to have fun."

The new coach said he was mildly disappointed at the turnout for the new program. When school begins, he said he expects "more budding players to try out."

So far 18 have practiced with regularity. "They've all played before in the park district program. They have a little experience," said Garland. "I'm pleased with what I have."

The team has had two weeks of practice. Last week, however, was the first full week. "The kids are finding it harder than they think," Garland said. "(There are) a lot of drills. (Reflexes that are developed by drills) should become a natural reflex . . . without having to think about it."

AS WELL AS DRILLS, Garland has the team running to increase stamina. A good soccer player has to be a natural athlete, said Garland. "An all-round athlete with some size and strength will do well," he said.

Uniforms and most of the equipment have been supplied to the team already. The only item missing is the goal nets to be set up on a field behind the football field.

But lack of nets hasn't kept Garland and his young team from practicing. "We're working with cones now. And practicing keeping the ball low," Garland said, recalling practices the week before. Garland's biggest concern now is improved accuracy in kicking.

A few players have caught Garland's eye as being potential strengths for the coming season.

"JEFF SLABY is a real good kicker," Garland said. Left wing will probably be his position, although he may be moved around once the first game is played. Jeff Sues is another potential strength for Triad.

The goaltending spot will most likely be shared by two players: Robert Barker and Ed Wille. Garland feels he will alternate the two during one game, each playing one 35-minute half.

Garland admitted most of his players want to play fullback. But once the first game is over, he will switch the players around so that each one is playing where he is most capable. No players will be put in one position the whole season, with the possible exception of goal-tenders.

GARLAND HAS BEEN pleased with the cooperation he has received from the other coaches at Triad, as well as the warm reception he has gotten from area high school soccer coaches.

Pre-season practice scrimmages with other schools have been arranged with Triad by the other soccer coaches.

Strategy, according to Garland, will include the diagonal defense with "good backs and fullbacks."

"If we get burned a few times (using this defense), we'll go back to a 4-3-3 formation," said Garland, speculating on the idea seriously.

"MOSTLY I'LL START with a five man formation and probably end with a 4-3-3," he said.

Next year Triad will have a varsity team in addition to the junior varsity. Garland would like to see an almost even number of junior varsity as varsity games in the '81 season.

Kahoks still improving

Another year of rebuilding

By RICK WELLE
Of The Herald

El Eschmann sees the 1980 season for the Kahok football team much the same way as he did the 1979 season: a year of rebuilding.

In just his second year as head coach of Collinsville High's gridders, Eschmann is charged with putting together the first winning football season in five years.

"We're sticking with a lot of basics," Eschmann said after the first full scrimmage of the training camp. "All two weeks we've worked on the basic fundamentals of blocking and tackling. And it's paid off so far."

THE SCRIMMAGE was "encouraging," according to Eschmann. And coming off 1-8 and 2-7 seasons, encouragement can go a long way.

"To improve," Eschmann said, was his objective. "To improve every time we go out there. That's what it's all about."

Improvement. While you're rebuilding, it's important. But Eschmann realizes true success is still down the road a ways.

"From what we've been before, we're a stronger football team. But that doesn't mean we're better than the other teams because they've been in a program for years," he said.

ONE THING that will hinder Collinsville High in its quest for a winning season will be its schedule. East St. Louis twice. Each of the Belleville schools, Edwardsville, Cahokia. "We work from week to week, and let the victories fall as they may," Eschmann said.

Another problem has been the double-duty some of the players have had to work. Eschmann said some of his valuable practice time has been lost because some players have to work both offensively and defensively.

In the game situations the threat those players will wear down is real. "Hopefully we'll be in much better physical shape," Eschmann said. "And I have enough of those players to where we can work them in and out enough to rest them."

DEFENSE
"No matter where you play, if you don't have a good defense you're in trouble," says Eschmann. So he and defensive coordinator Bob Hollingshead have worked to solidify all aspects of that game.

Collinsville has 10 returning regulars on defense. The line, the linebackers and the secondary are all strong.

ON THE LINE, the Kahoks don't give away too much size to anyone. Scott Calvin, Ed Schallert and Chris Steele are fighting for the ends, with Ken Ahart, Mike Kleb and Steve Gordon working for the inside. Ahart, currently at about 330 pounds, and Kleb, weighing in at 260, are solid anchors for any line. Eschmann says depth is the biggest problem at the tackles.

Seniors Dave Mohme, Jeff McDaniel and Steve Kuegler all return from last year to the linebacking corps. Kyle Pressnall, a hefty junior, is also pushing for a starting spot.

THREE EXPERIENCED seniors return to the defensive secondary: Mike Jackstadt, Todd Miller and Steve Stephens. Eschmann says the fourth spot, the weak side safety, is still up for grabs between four different players.

OFFENSE
"Offensively we moved the ball," Eschmann said after the first scrimmage. "Our trapping game looked good and the option looked good. Both quarterbacks threw well."

No. 1 this year at quarterback will be Miller. Miller is an all-around athlete with a good arm. Junior Steve Bluemner will be the backup.

JEFF AHART will be a big key to the Kahoks' running game. At 185 pounds he has both the size and speed for an excellent fullback. Running with him will be seniors Kuegler and Mike Lankford and junior Steve Johnson at tailback.

Of course, no one can run without good blockers. Collinsville lost seven seniors to graduation from the offensive line last year. This year, with the exception of center, the linemen will all be 230 pounds and up. Scott Calvin, Mohme, Kleb and Dean Hiles are top prospects, with Steve Harvengt probably starting at center at 165 pounds.

Watershed season for GC North

By KEVIN ALLEN
Of the Press-Record

Tom Wyrostek hopes the mix is right. He hopes the players returning to his Granite City North Steelers and players yet to be tested can gel into a winning football team.

For North, this is something of a watershed year. After a winless season two years ago, the Steelers bounced back with a winning team in 1979.

So in 1980, Wyrostek's team will either continue to improve or take a step backwards. Wyrostek, of course, hopes the former will happen.

"We weren't exactly pleased with our year last year," Wyrostek said. "We started pretty good, but toward the end of the year injuries and some bad breaks kind of broke our momentum. So much of this game is momentum."

Whether last year's fast start will be impetus enough to carry over to 1980 remains to be seen.

Many of the players who were a part of the Steelers' 1979 resurgence are back. Twelve lettermen are toiling through preseason drills in preparation for the upcoming season, but the majority of those are offensive players.

Wyrostek said the Steelers' defensive unit was particularly hard hit by graduation last year, and the most serious questions during preseason concern the ability of younger players to assume the roles of the recently departed.

"We'll just have to wait and see," Wyrostek said. "We do have quite a few guys back with some game experience, and we hope we can develop others."

The main thing, according to Wyrostek, though, is "the nucleus is there."

Especially offensively. Quarterback Dan Patterson shared that position with Tim Dudley last year, but toward the end of the season, Patterson was more or less the regular QB. This year he will remain so.

Joining Patterson in the backfield will be three other experienced players — fullback Rick Buer, I-back Kevin Buchanon, and halfback Joe Dean.

Kevin DePew will anchor the offensive line at center. Alongside will be tackles David Long and Tom Wyrostek, and at tight end Pat Mushill or Joe Bowler. All are returning lettermen.

Many of the same players are being counted on to fill the defensive holes. Mushill, DePew, and Steve Gibson are candidates for two defensive end positions. Bowler and Jack Rainey should see action at defensive tackle, and Alan Schmidt and Darren DePew will likely be a linebacker, Wyrostek said.

The defensive backfield will feature Patterson, Dean, and, Jeff Gibbs.

"High school football isn't like the pros or even college," Wyrostek said. "We can't go out and recruit our deficiencies or buy players like the pros."

Wyrostek's team will get its first action Sept. 5 when it travels to Cahokia, the first of two Gateway East Conference meetings this season with the Comanches. The Steelers' two games with Cahokia could be a blessing. Last season the hapless Comanches were 0-8 and finished last in league play.

GC South QB a question mark

By PETE HAYES
Of the Press-Record

Stan Wojcik is a realist. But he's also a high school football coach. The two ingredients usually equal an age-old cliché...

Cautious optimism. Wojcik, head coach at Granite City High School South, watched last June as most of his starting offense and defense graduated from high school. Glad to see them move on in life. Sorry to see the holes they left to fill on his football team.

"We lost just about everybody," said Wojcik. "And now we're finding out we have some problems. Some holes to fill."

Perhaps the biggest hole to try and fill is at the quarterback position. Gone is last year's starter, Blake "Hondo" Ambuehl. Now the dogfight is on for the spot.

"We've got three guys right now who could take it (the quarterback job)," said Wojcik. "But between the three of them, there's not much experience at

The three are juniors Tony Fizer and Dan Harris and sophomore John Linhart. "Linhart played some as a freshman last year and Harris played some as a sophomore," Wojcik said. "That's the biggest question mark right now. Hondo was a pleasant surprise for us last year. He left some shoes to fill."

Wojcik will have to make his decision on the quarterback question soon. His team's first game is Sept. 5 at home against Southwestern Conference power Belleville East. "We'll have to make a cut-and-dried decision some time this week," he said. "We have a decision Thursday (today). We'll know by then who our number one quarterback is going to be."

The rest of South's schedule doesn't get any easier. After the battle with East's Lancers, the Warriors will tangle with the likes of O'Fallon, Cahokia, Edwardsville, Granite North and Belleville Althoff (not in that order).

"Jeez, just think about it. Althoff and Edwardsville are going to be awesome," Wojcik said of the Gateway East Conference race. "But North (Granite City) might sneak up on them." Althoff, last season's champ, advanced all the way to the State Class 4A Semifinals.

As far as his team's chances in the conference are concerned, Wojcik was something less than optimistic. "If we play ball, execute and make very, very few mistakes, we might be able to hold our own," he said.

"Hold our own." But Wojcik's problems don't end with the quarterback situation. He also has a diminutive line. "We don't have any size whatsoever," he said. "We never do. I don't know if it's something in the water or Granite City Steel, or what."

"It'd be OK to be 6-2, 185 and strong," said Wojcik. "But we're finding out that some of the guys worked out with weights over the summer and some didn't. It's starting to show which ones did and which ones didn't."

The running back situation will probably be South's strong point. "I thought going in that it'd be our strongest area," said Wojcik. "And I think it will be."

Leading the way for the Warriors in the backfield will be Mark Clark and Don Keeling, the two who return with the most experience and savvy. Others who could fit into the picture will be Mike Benita, Mark Marsh and Tim Phelps.

On defense, Wojcik's squad could be an even bigger question mark. "Heck, we haven't even worked that much on defense," he said. "We've been so had on offense that we've had to work on it so much in practice."

Coaches sometimes tend to overdramatize.

"We might be able to surprise some people this season," said Wojcik.

Triad strength in three words

By JIM CAGLE
Of The Herald

Triad Knight football coach Ted Cange is optimistic. His optimism comes from three little words that high school football coaches across the country love to have in their vocabularies: size, speed and seniors.

The Knights have all three this season.

"This is potentially the best team I've ever coached," said Cange, putting added emphasis on the word "potentially."

"I'M NOT SAYING that we're going to go out and run over everybody," said Cange. "But, I am saying that we have the personnel and the capability of putting together a really good season," he said.

Indeed the numbers do look good for the Triad gridders. This year's squad is predominately juniors and seniors, unlike last year's team which included many sophomores. The Knights lost only eight seniors to graduation last year.

"We're basically looking at the same ballclub we had last season," said Cange. "We're expecting this team to be vastly improved over last year's because the players will have a bit more experience."

The Knights had a dismal 3-5 record in 1979.

THIS YEAR'S squad will be bolstered by 20 returning letterman, a number of them with weights topping the 200 pound mark.

Cange is high on his offensive line, which includes three 200-pounders. Anchoring that line will be senior interior linemen Ernie Dorn and John Wise, both weighing in at 220.

On the receiving corps lies another big man, 6-6, 215 pound senior tight end Mark Martz. Martz is a valuable asset as a blocker and as a pass receiver.

The biggest question mark for Cange's Knights is in the offensive backfield. The only sure starter is 6-0, 210 pound senior halfback Bob King. Cange will look to King as the bread and butter of his running game. King is strong enough to run inside and quick enough to get outside.

THE OTHER running back positions will be filled by one of a host of junior candidates.

that position last year, is being strongly challenged by sophomore Steve Brown.

"It's a toss up," said Cange, referring to the quarterback situation. "We're not really certain which one will get the starting job."

On defense, special praise was given to senior halfback Steve Wiggington. "He's the team's moral leader," said Cange of Wiggington. "He's 5-9 and 135 pounds soaking wet, but he hits like he weighs 200." Wiggington will be the team's defensive captain.

THE DEFENSIVE line will be anchored by 6-0, 240 pound junior tackle Mark Walker.

Junior middle linebacker Steve Barber, according to Cange, is the key man in the linebacking corps. Barber is 5-10, 180 pounds and has good range, as well as being an excellent hitter.

Other players mentioned by Cange as bright spots in the lineup included two offensive linemen, John Clark, a 5-10, 190 pound junior, and Tim Trout, a 5-9, 170 pound senior.

Von der Haar has work cut out

By KEVIN ALLEN
Of the Press-Record

If Al von der Haar were a farmer right now he would just be preparing to sow a few seeds.

von der Haar, of course is no farmer. He's head football coach at Madison High School. He is sowing seeds, however.

The job von der Haar took just days before preseason practice was to begin might not appear too attractive.

He inherited a football team that scored just one touchdown last season, limping through a winless season.

So what von der Haar did was plow the whole thing under, "Forget about the past," became his motto. Now he's sowing seeds of encouragement and motivation.

In other words, he's starting from scratch and building the Trojans brick by brick.

"My philosophy is: Know what your doing. That's why we've been going slow. We handed out helmets yesterday. We're where most teams who have a continuous program are on there first day, and we've had 12 practices," von der Haar said.

So don't go asking about prospects and returnees and graduation losses. All that's premature. Remember, this is still planting time.

"Someone wanted to know how many lettermen we had back from last year," von der Haar said.

"I told him that when you average 61 points against you every game, no one deserves a letter."

The first year coach is still in an evaluation stage. Generally, he said his team has some good size, and fairly good speed, but he prefers to take a more individual approach.

"At times, I see a diamond in the rough in every kid out here," von der Haar said. "I don't want to pick anyone out until I have a chance to see what everyone can do."

If attendance is any measure of attitude, then the Trojan prospective players are excited about the new coach and his methods.

von der Haar said in all, about 50 players have been to practices. With summer jobs and such, though, the team won't really practice as a full unit until school starts.

Even then workouts will stress the basics. "We stress excellence," von der Haar said. "We may only know one play our first game, and we might run the heck out of it, but we'll have it down pat."

As the season rolls on, though, von der Haar sees better things coming.

"We're going to turn it around," he said. "It may not be until the middle of the season, but we're going to do it. There's no timetable set."

Triad: Still no loop in '81

Of The Herald

The 1980-81 sports season will mark Triad's second season as an independent.

As of yet, Triad High has been unable to find a conference. The Knights are looking to align with other schools of the same size in this area to form an all-sports conference.

THE PROBLEM is, there just aren't many schools that fit the criteria.

"We're kind of stuck in the middle with nowhere to go," said Triad High principal Rich Mason. "We're too small to compete with teams in this general area, and too large for many of the teams in the outlying areas," said Mason.

It seems Triad's best chance at getting in a conference will be with other teams to form a new conference.

"We had a deal working with some schools that are leaving the Mid-State Conference," said Mason. "But two of the three schools have already joined another conference that would not be feasible for us because of the extensive travel."

"WE'VE ALSO TALKED to some schools to the south of us, but they felt that Triad was too large to compete with them on an even basis," said Mason.

Athletic director Ted Cange feels the move out of the Mississippi Valley Conference was necessary, but it has its drawbacks.

"We had to get out of the MVC because we just couldn't compete with those larger schools," said Cange. "Not having a conference championship to shoot for takes away some of the excitement, though."

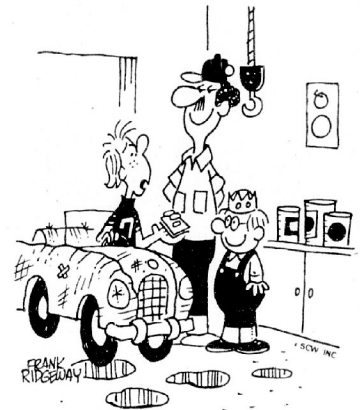

"Eventually we might realign with the MVC," said Mason. "Our enrollment is growing now, so that is a possibility."

"However," said Mason, "that will not happen in the near future."
